The Macalester College Faculty Development International Seminar in South Africa drew on the professional and intellectual resources, and the extraordinary goodwill, of a wide variety of individuals and institutions in South Africa.

It is to those individuals who were directly engaged in the Seminar as authors, presenters, and discussants (see names elsewhere in this volume) that we extend our greatest appreciation. Without them, we could not have learned so much about South Africa during so short a sojourn.

In Cape Town, Macalester also extends a warm word of thanks to Thenjiwe Kona who served as our on-site liaison at UCT, Martin West who helped arranged UCT co-sponsorship, Zairian Reassume for coordination of lodging at the All Africa House, Howard Portnoi for on-site logistical support, Jessica Thomas for food services, and Cecil Callahan for a generous reception. In Pretoria, we would like to acknowledge B.R. Naidu and Marianne Makgoka for the welcome and arrangements at the Human Sciences Resource Council, and the staff of the Pretoria Hof Hotel.

At Macalester, President Michael McPherson was a source of consistent intellectual and material support. Dean Ahmed Samatar would like to register the exceptional contributions of Michael Monahan, our Director of the International Center, in the planning and the mounting of the seminar. His quick command over complex detail, civilized demeanor, and discriminating mind were indispensable. Finally, a word of appreciation to Marilyn Cragoe and Margaret Beegle, two staff members of International Studies and Programming who helped in every step of the preparation of the manuscript for publication.
