A pair of hands is shown holding a tablet computer. The tablet screen displays a slide with a white background and black text. At the top of the slide, the word "Session Proposal" is written in a large, bold, sans-serif font. Below this, there are two bullet points. The first bullet point discusses the discovery of widely variant eBook circulation in SELCO libraries, questioning why some libraries have high usage while others have low. The second bullet point asks why some libraries report significant barriers to accessing titles while others do not, and what library staff can do to encourage users to explore collections. The tablet's status bar at the top shows "iPad", a signal strength icon, "9:41 AM", and a battery icon. The hands are positioned on the left and right sides of the tablet, with the thumbs resting on the screen.

Session Proposal

- In a recent implementation of Overdrive, SELCO libraries discovered widely variant circulation, even from libraries that were roughly the same size. Why were some libraries' eBook users diving right in while patrons of libraries barely dipped their toes in?
- Why were some libraries reporting significant barriers to patrons accessing titles while some seemed to flow right along with the service? What can library staff do to take advantage of the trend and encourage library users to explore library collections?

A person's hands are holding a tablet computer. The screen displays a white slide with black text. At the top of the slide, the question "Do we need to discuss?" is written in a large, bold font. Below the question, there are two bullet points. The first bullet point says "Proposed this session in November". The second bullet point says "Meeting demand now the priority?". The tablet's status bar at the top shows "iPad" on the left, "9:41 AM" in the center, and a battery icon on the right. The background is plain white.

Public Library has free eBooks, audio downloads! (01/23/2011)
By Frances Estess

Baby, it's cold outside, and you dread going out into the frigid weather. All you want to do is curl up with a good book. But guess what? You just read the last word of the last book in the house you haven't read before, and you find yourself reaching for a box of cereal to satisfy your craving for a good read.

The Winona Public Library to the rescue! You can now download eBooks and audiobooks from the library to your computer and myriad other devices such as eReaders, phones, and digital audio players. All from the cozy comfort of home.

Robin DeVries, Reference Librarian at the Winona library, says the library has expanded its services with audiobooks and eBooks able to be downloaded from the library's website. Library card holders can check out and download digital media anytime, anywhere by visiting <http://secc.lib.overdrive.com>.

There are currently approximately 200 eBook and audiobook titles to choose from, mostly current fiction titles. But eReaders can now be borrowed at the Library

The library now has 3 eReaders available to check out! These readers were made available from a grant from the Zumbrota Community Trust. Available models are the Kindle, the Nook, and the Sony Reader. Checking out an eReader is similar to checking out a book. You can have the devices for 2 weeks at a time. However, the library will require a credit card deposit as a security measure.
