General Information

Historical Sketch

Macalester College was opened on September 15, 1885. It is the outgrowth of two academies founded by the distinguished Minnesota pioneer missionary and educator, the Rev. Edward Duffield Neill, D. D. One of these schools was founded in St. Paul, in 1853; the other was established in Minneapolis, in 1873. Both were named after Mr. M. W. Baldwin, the famous locomotive builder, who was a close friend of Dr. Neill and a financial supporter of his first educational undertaking. In 1873 Dr. Neill solicited aid from Mr. Charles Macalester of Philadelphia for the purpose of developing the Baldwin School into an undenominational college of the New England type. The latter gave for this purpose the noted summer hotel at St. Anthony Falls, known as the Winslow House. In appreciation of this gift the proposed institution was named Macalester College, March 5, 1874.

Failing in his effort to secure adequate endowment for this college for men only, Dr. Neill asked the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Minnesota to adopt this college as a denominational institution. On October 15, 1880, by action of the Synod, it passed under Presbyterian control. The trustees of the college, in 1883, donated to the institution the forty acres on which it is now established. They then sold the Winslow House and from the proceeds thereof, in 1884, erected the east wing of the present main building. The same year the Synod completed an endowment of $25,000 for the president's chair, and in 1885 the institution was opened to students. At its opening the faculty numbered five professors; the student body was composed of six college freshmen, and fifty-two preparing for college in Baldwin School.

Because of the insufficiency of its resources financial difficulties multiplied fast after the opening of the college. In 1887 its net liabilities were over $37,000. Despite this debt the trustees proceeded to erect the main building at a cost of $68,000 and increased the indebtedness, by January 1, 1889, to $103,000. During the next ten years these liabilities grew larger until they totaled $180,000, and the college seemed hopelessly burdened with debt. Three presidents gave up the attempt to save the institution. But a group of loyal professors, led by the inspiring example of Dr. James Wallace, believed in the future of the college and kept its doors open.

From 1889 to 1898 Macalester College graduated one hundred students. In 1893 the college was made coeducational. Such was the character of the young men and women, who became alumni, that Christian people began to realize that Macalester College was doing an indispensable work for the Church and declared the institution must be saved.

Among the most active in this cause were Messrs. R. A. Kirk, R. C. Jefferson, George D. Dayton, Thomas H. Dickson and Professor Thomas Shaw. These influential men enlisted the financial support of many friends and in July, 1900, reported that the old debt had been liquidated.

Meantime, in June, 1900, they effected a reorganization of the Board of Trustees. In 1904 the first endowment campaign for $300,000 was launched. In July, 1911, the trustees announced that they had not only completed this endowment, but that they had, in addition, erected two new, modern buildings: Wallace Hall and the Carnegie Science Hall. In January, 1913, at the request of Mr. Frederick Weyerhaeuser the trustees undertook the raising of a second endowment fund of $250,000, which was all paid in during 1916.

The rapid growth of the college necessitated the discontinuance of the Baldwin School in 1914. In 1918 the trustees, impelled by the growing demands of the institution, moved to secure a third endowment fund and $915,220 was secured.

In January, 1926, the Macalester Forward Movement was launched, to which there has been pledged to date $825,000. Plans are contemplated which, it is hoped, will materially increase the assets and academic efficiency of the institution.

Presidents of Macalester College

James Wallace, Ph. D., LL. D., 1894-1906.

*Deceased
Form of Bequest

The corporate name of the institution is Trustees of Macalester College.

Legal Form of Bequest.—I give and bequeath to the Trustees of Macalester College of St. Paul, Minnesota, duly incorporated under the laws of Minnesota, the sum of ................. dollars.

Location

Macalester College is located in Macalester Park, St. Paul, a beautiful suburb in the so-called Midway District. The location is favorable for study and for the development of wholesome college life. Easy access to the Twin Cities is afforded by the Grand Avenue and Snelling Avenue electric lines—the latter of which connects with the interurban lines. The public libraries, churches, lecture courses and musical entertainments of these cities offer cultural opportunities and the vocations in city life can be studied at first hand.

Campus

The campus contains forty acres with a frontage of six hundred and sixty feet on Summit Avenue. The college buildings are situated on the north half of the campus, while the ample athletic field and college woods occupy the southern half.

Buildings and Equipment

The Main Building contains class rooms, society halls, library, auditorium and executive office.

The Carnegie Science Hall is the gift of Mr. Andrew Carnegie. The first floor is devoted to physics and geology; the second to biology, mathematics and astronomy; and the third to chemistry. On the first floor the Lewis Collection of Indian relics is rare and valuable, as is also the Educational Collection of marine invertebrates and fishes contributed by the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C. There is also a collection of about five hundred specimens, obtained and loaned by Gilbert L. Wilson, Ph. D., illustrating the culture of the Hidatsa and Mandan Indians.

Conservatory of Music, located on Summit Avenue, contains a recital hall and practice rooms, fully equipped.
Kirk Hall, a dormitory for men, is located on the corner of Lincoln and Snelling Avenues. It is of American Colonial style of architecture, built on the quadrangle plan in nine sections, each opening individually onto the central court. In most cases the rooms are arranged to provide a study-room with two, and sometimes three, adjoining bedrooms. There are also some single study-bedrooms in one. The building will accommodate 142 students. One section contains a fully equipped, modern kitchen, commodious dining-room, and comfortable, home-like community room.

Wallace Hall, a dormitory for women students, was built in 1907 and named for James Wallace, now president-emeritus of the college. This three-story, fire-proof brick building contains rooms for 80 students. The dining-room is large enough to accommodate the residents of both Wallace Hall and Rice Hall. The drawing-rooms furnish opportunity for both informal and the more formal social activities. Although it is modern in equipment, the Hall is old enough to have built up about its family life many traditions and pleasant customs.

The students of Wallace Hall and Rice Hall participate, in cooperation with the Dean of Women who resides in Wallace Hall, in an experiment in student government. Students who have developed a sense of responsibility and who wish to share the responsibility for their own activities will find here every encouragement for the development of self-government, as well as a comfortable home during their college residence.

Rice Hall, named in memory of Rev. Daniel Rice, D. D., a former professor and trustee, is a frame building facing the campus, the first floor of which is equipped for the College Health Service, containing hospital rooms, diet kitchen, small dispensary as well as nurse's quarters. The upper floor is used as an annex to Wallace Hall, the women's dormitory, and will accommodate ten young women.

The Gymnasium, of American Colonial Design, is thoroughly modern and complete, a structure 83 by 188 feet. The main gymnasium floor is surrounded by a running track and spectators' balcony hung 14 feet above the floor to allow ample space for bleachers beneath.

The first floor also contains rooms for the athletic directors of men and women, check rooms, a kitchen adequate for large social events, apparatus and other rooms.
The second floor provides rooms for boxing, wrestling and social events.

The basement contains a standard swimming pool, hand ball courts, and a field sports room.

Shaw Athletic Field, which was dedicated at the opening of the school year in 1909, was named in honor of Professor Thomas Shaw, former President of the Board of Trustees, on account of his interest and assistance in the athletics of the institution. A quarter-mile track with a 220 straightaway has recently been constructed.

Library

The Edward D. Neill Library contains about 19,000 volumes and is located on the ground floor of the main building. In Carnegie Science Hall are department libraries.

The Dewey system of classification is used.

One hundred and twenty periodicals are on file in the Library or in the department libraries.

Toward maintenance of the Library there is set apart each semester two dollars and fifty cents of each tuition fee.

Henry L. Moss, a former trustee of the college, and his wife, bequeathed to the college an endowment which yields an income of $450 for the Library.

The Library is open during the college year as follows: Monday to Friday, from eight to six and from seven to nine-thirty o'clock; Saturday, from eight to six o'clock; holidays, from nine to twelve and one to five o'clock.

Other Library Privileges

The St. Paul Public Library contains, in its central building and permanent branches, 229,539 volumes. Of first importance in the central building is the Social Science Reference room, which contains the library's resources in economics, politics, sociology, education and social work. There is also a reference room for the useful arts and one for the fine arts, including music. This library is located within fifteen minutes' ride by street car from Macalester College. Students may draw books for home use.
The James Jerome Hill Reference Library has a most carefully chosen collection of books on all subjects except law and medicine. In a special room is a noteworthy map collection. This library supplements the resources of other accessible libraries and affords unusual opportunities for study and research. College faculties and students are requested to use it freely. The James Jerome Hill Reference Library forms the east wing of the Public Library Building.

The Library of the Minnesota Historical Society contains about 168,000 books and pamphlets. It specializes in Americana, particularly that of the West, Northwest and Canada. It has one of the largest collections in genealogy and biography in the United States; extensive collections in American church history, local history and travel; and the most complete collection in existence relating to the Scandinavians in America. The Manuscript Department of the Society, with its important material, is open to qualified college students. The Historical Society building is located near the State Capitol.

Other libraries open to students are the State Law Library, 100,000 volumes, and the Minneapolis Public Library, which has 323,000 volumes in its central building.

Registration

Students are required to register by the beginning of each semester. In case of delay in registration beyond the registration days indicated in the college calendar, a fine of one dollar is imposed for the first day and fifty cents for each subsequent day. No excuses are granted for late registration. Students may register by mail on deposit of tuition fee, subject to the entrance requirements stated on page 30.

For the first semester of the college year freshmen present themselves for registration on Monday morning of the opening week. On Monday afternoon and continuing through Tuesday and Wednesday will be given a series of lectures on subjects of vital importance to new students by the President and various members of the faculty. On Tuesday afternoon registration of sophomores, juniors and seniors begins and extends through Wednesday. Registration without penalty ends Wednesday.

Second semester registration occurs the last week of the first semester.
The matter of excess registration is to be referred to the deans. The student who has failed in half the work of one semester, counted by hours, may not register for the following semester.

Students whose influence is found to be hurtful, even though guilty of no serious breaches of order, will not be retained in the institution.

The prospective student should procure from the college an application blank in which his high school credits should be entered by the principal or superintendent and mailed by the proper school authority to the Registrar.

Examinations and Reports

Examinations are held at the close of each semester. A record is kept of each student's grades, a copy of which is sent to the parent or guardian at the close of each semester.

Students who secure a passing mark in a course are graded as follows: A, B, C or D, which mean excellent, good, fair and poor, respectively. Students who do not reach a passing mark are graded as follows: Con, I or F. Con, meaning condition, implies that the student has failed in the final examination and that the deficiency may be removed by his passing in a second examination to be given later. I means that the mark is withheld by the instructor because the work required has not been completed. F means failure in term grade. In cases of failure students may secure credit only by repeating the course. A Con becomes an F upon failure to pass the second examination.

Conditions incurred in courses of the first semester must be removed by examination within the first two weeks of the second semester; conditions incurred in courses of the second semester must be removed within the first two weeks of the following semester.

For private and condition examinations a fee of fifty cents shall be paid for each examination at the office of the registrar. Private examinations will be authorized by the faculty only, and for the most urgent reasons stated in writing.

Degrees

Graduates of the College of Liberal Arts receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The degree of Bachelor of Music is granted to students who fulfill the requirements for such degree in the Conservatory of Music.

At least one year of resident work at Macalester with a minimum of thirty credits is necessary for candidates for a degree.
Prizes

Noyes Prize.—Mrs. D. R. Noyes has given $2,000, the interest of which is used as prizes for student scholarship. These are awarded to the first honor students of the senior, junior and sophomore classes.

Stringer Prize.—In honor of the memory of Mr. E. C. Stringer the college is able to offer an annual prize of $25, to be given to that student of the college, who, having not fewer than fourteen recitations a week, takes the first place in the preliminary oratorical contest, and represents the college in the state contest.

Paul Prizes in Extemporaneous Speaking.—In 1917 Rev. W. F. Paul of Minneapolis established the Paul Contest in Extemporaneous Speaking to be held annually during Commencement Week. For this purpose he offers each year prizes totaling $50, divided into three prizes of $30, $15 and $5.

Funk Prizes.—For the encouragement of intensive and original studies in history, Mrs. Lydia C. Funk offers $100 annually in three prizes of $60, $25 and $15. Contestants must be members of the senior class, majoring in history and having a standing in the department of at least B.

Freshman Scholarships.—Macalester College is cooperating with the University of Minnesota in its plan of Freshman Scholarships. Fifty scholarships are offered each year by the University of Minnesota on the basis of competitive tests. Any student successfully passing these tests who prefers to attend Macalester College will be granted a scholarship of equal value as that granted by the University, namely $100.

Scholarships

Silliman Scholarship.—Offered by Mr. H. B. Silliman, of Cohoes, N. Y., and yielding $50 per annum.

Wallace Scholarship.—A gift of $2,000 by Dr. James Wallace and family in memory of Mrs. James Wallace, the interest of which is devoted to a general scholarship.

Synodical Scholarship.—This is made up of gifts from churches and individuals throughout the state and amounts to $2,830, the interest of which is devoted to general scholarships.

Williams Brothers Scholarship.—Louis H. and Charles R. Williams, of Minneapolis, have given $1,000, the income from which is for the aid of a student selected by the faculty.

Biology Scholarship.—In memory of her husband, Dr. Archibald MacLaren, Mrs. Kathrine MacLaren, of St. Paul, contributes $50 to aid a student in the department of biology, who is selected by the head of this department.

Scott Scholarship.—Mr. William H. Scott, of Philadelphia, gives $60 for a scholarship awarded by the faculty.

McCabe Scholarship.—Bequeathed by Edward Everett McCabe of the class of 1914 and accepted as a general scholarship.

Crawford Scholarship.—A gift of $1,000 in memory of Ira Leslie Crawford, the income from which is devoted to a general scholarship.

Myers Scholarship.—S. F. W. Myers has given, in memory of his son, Carl Bertram Myers, $1,000, the income from which is devoted to a general scholarship.

Students who receive the benefits of the above scholarships, which are assigned by the college, are required to repay same if they leave the institution before graduation.

Shaw Scholarship.—Given by Professor Thomas Shaw, of St. Paul, to the nominee of the Central Presbyterian Church, of St. Paul, yielding $50 per annum.

Webb Scholarship.—Mr. E. A. Webb, deceased, gave $1,000, the interest of which is to aid a candidate from the Central Presbyterian Church, St. Paul.

Winona Scholarship.—The First Presbyterian Church has given $1,000, the interest of which is to aid a candidate nominated by this church.

The H. W. Coffin Scholarship.—Established by Mrs. Mary E. Coffin of Duluth, to be used by relatives of the H. W. Coffin family, young people from the Glen Avon Presbyterian Church, Duluth, or for students for the ministry or missionary service. Beneficiaries of said scholarship to be given precedence in the order named. This scholarship yields $150 a year.

Paul A. Ewert Scholarship.—Bequeathed in the will of Paul A. Ewert of the class of 1894, the sum of $4,750, the income from which is to be used in helping worthy students.

Macalester Scholarship of St. Paul Presbytery.—Amounting now to $1,139, the interest of which is to aid a student nominated by the Presbytery of St. Paul.
James Mulvey Memorial Scholarship.—Founded by the Misses Jessie and Edna Mulvey in memory of their father; amounts total $2,500. Interest to aid a student for the ministry or missionary service or other worthy student selected by the donors or by the faculty.

Ministerial Scholarships.—Given by Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church to candidates for its ministry, and to men and women candidates for missionary service.

New England Scholarship.—The St. Paul Colony of New England women gives this year $100 to a young woman of New England parentage.

Rhodes Scholarships.—In order to keep this well-known bequest before the minds of present or prospective students it is briefly mentioned. Circulars of full information can be obtained at the President's office. Any male student who is a citizen of the United States, unmarried, not less than nineteen nor more than twenty-four years of age and who has reached the end of his sophomore year of study, may be a candidate for one of the Minnesota scholarships. This insures to the winning contestant a three years’ residence in Oxford University, England.

Loan Funds

Faculty Women’s Club.—A fund of $2,000, held by the Faculty Women’s Club, is used for short period loans, preferably to junior and senior students.

The Harmon Foundation Loan Fund.—This is a fund to give financial aid to those students who, without it, would be forced to discontinue their college course. The fund is administered by the Harmon Foundation through a committee of the faculty. Loans may be granted to deserving students in amounts not to exceed $200, at six per cent interest. The cooperative feature of the plan obviates the giving of collateral. Repayment of the loan is made in installments commencing not later than one year after the student leaves college. This fund is not available for freshmen.

Dames of the Round Table.—This is a fund of $300, established in memory of Mrs. Jennie E. Straight, to be used for loans, without interest, to students. A loan from this fund is to be repaid not later than one year after the student has left college. An extension may be granted at the discretion of the college with the consent of the donors.
William F. Rodgers Memorial.—A fund of $5,000, bequeathed by Mr. William F. Rodgers, the income of which is available for student loans.

Department Foundations

The Weyerhaeuser Foundation.—Founded by Mr. Frederick Weyerhaeuser, and increased by members of his family, totaling $100,000, to be devoted to the development and maintenance of the Department of Religion.

The Synnott Foundation.—A gift of $50,000 from Thomas W. Synnott, held in trust by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., for the maintenance of the Department of Religion.

The Martin Foundation.—The gift of John C. Martin in 1908 of $10,000 to be used in the Department of Religion.

The Moss Foundation.—A gift from Henry L. Moss now totaling $7,464.77, income from which is to be used for the maintenance of the Library.

The Henry D. Funk Memorial Foundation.—Established by Mrs. Lydia A. Funk, a gift of $10,000, income from which is to be devoted to the development of the Department of History.

Student Activities

The Y. M. C. A. has a membership of about eighty students. It holds its regular meeting every Tuesday morning. A committee of the association is present at the college two or three days before the opening of the first semester to assist the new students.

The Y. W. C. A. offers social, educational and religious advantages to the women of the college. It binds all the women together into one common fellowship thru its regular Tuesday morning meetings, mission and Bible study classes as well as social affairs.

Literary Societies.—In the college there are nine literary societies under the general oversight of the faculty. Hyperion society admits to membership both men and women; Athenaean, Adelphian, Alethean and Eulogian societies admit men and Chi Phi Delta, Clionian, Philotian, Thalian and Platonian societies, women.
The Quill Club.—The American College Quill Club is a writer’s organization established in various American Colleges for the purpose of encouraging literary effort and criticism. It is not an honorary body—admission is by original manuscript only, with due consideration given to the character of the applicant for responsibility and sustained effort. Active members are also drawn from the faculty, thus preserving a reasonable balance between inexperience and maturity.

The Quill Club is non-secret and non-fraternal. Its nomenclature and ritual are based upon Anglo-Saxon culture. The local chapter is known as Cen Rune. Students whose work in the English Department is of sufficient merit to be published in the Gateway Magazine are eligible for membership in the Quill Club.

Macalester College was the sixth in the United States to be admitted to the American College Quill Club.

The Macalester Players is a group within the Department of Expression, whose object is to stimulate and develop an appreciation of the best in drama. Several plays are given each year, coached by the head of the department.

Debate and Oratory.—All matters pertaining to debate and oratory are under the charge of Pi Kappa Delta.

The college takes part in the State Intercollegiate Contest in Oratory and is a member of the State Intercollegiate Debate League. A preliminary home contest is held for each of these contests, for which suitable prizes are offered.

Pi Kappa Delta.—This is a national honorary fraternity, organized to give recognition to those who distinguish themselves in public speaking, and to promote interest in forensics.

The Charter of the Macalester or Minnesota Alpha Chapter was granted by the National Council in 1920.

Membership in Pi Kappa Delta is based on election, being limited to professors of public speaking and those who have represented the college in intercollegiate forensic contests.

The local Chapter interests itself in all forms of forensics, and has assumed the secretariats of the Minnesota High School Discussion League and the High School League in Extemporaneous Speaking.
Interscholastic Forensic Competition.—Macalester College has taken a great interest in developing a more natural, effective manner of public speaking among the high schools of the state. To further that end it organized the Minnesota High School Discussion League which is now starting on its fourteenth year, and the High School League in Extemporaneous Speaking which is starting on its twelfth year. The state has been organized into districts and the winners of the district contests come to Macalester the third week in February where the state contests are held. Macalester College furnishes medals for the winners of district and state contests and shields for the winning schools.

College Glee Club.—This is a men’s organization, firmly established and with a splendid record of accomplishment in the fifteen years of its existence. The club is under the direction of a faculty adviser.

Girls’ Glee Club.—A well-established undergraduate organization of women under the direction of a faculty adviser.

The M Club was organized December 9, 1913. It was founded to keep those who have won the letter in touch with one another and to foster athletics. When a Macalester student has earned an M he becomes a member on the payment of one dollar initiation fee.

Sigma Delta Psi.—This is the national athletic fraternity which stands for the comprehensive intelligent development of physical training for college men.

The Macalester Chapter was established February 18, 1925.

No literary society or other student organization may be established without the consent of the faculty.

Pi Phi Epsilon Society

The society was organized in 1914 with twenty charter members. The aim of the society is to stimulate scholarship and intellectual interests in the college. It regards scholarship, intellectual leadership, originality and character as the requisites for eligibility to membership.

New members are chosen by the faculty in the fall of each year. Of these not more than four are taken from the sophomore class, the remainder from the junior and senior classes. Those selected from the sophomore class are chosen strictly on the basis of high standing.
as students, as shown by the records of the Registrar. Others are elected by ballot of the faculty from a list nominated by the advisers and heads of departments. Nomination is made on the ground of unusual proficiency in the student's major subject. After the above are chosen the faculty may elect not to exceed two more from a list that includes worthy students not otherwise eligible. At the close of the school year members of the graduating class who have exceptionally fine records thru their senior year may be added to the society.

At graduation active members become graduate members of the society, and are entitled to all its privileges except voting. Members of the faculty are honorary members of the society.

The executive committee of the society is composed of the officers together with a faculty representative.

The undergraduate members are:

Religious Life and Exercises

Macalester was founded as a Christian college. The atmosphere of the college has always been warmly religious. The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations are large and active. The city offers much opportunity for religious work. In keeping with the purpose of the founders of the college the faculty makes the following requirements:—(1) Courses in Religious Education; (2) attendance at the chapel exercises. Attendance at Sunday church service is expected of all students. Students connected with churches either by membership or sympathies are expected to attend the church of their preference.
Teachers' Bureau

The faculty committee on appointments maintains a bureau for the placement of graduates in the field of public school teaching. There is no fee for this service. Particulars may be found under Department of Education.

Publications

The following publications are issued from the college:—

The Macalester College Bulletin, a quarterly devoted to the advertisement and advancement of the institution.

The Mac, a biennial publication devoted to college interests published by the college students.

The Mac Weekly, a student publication established in 1914. It gives expression to student opinion upon matters of college life, and gives complete accounts of all college events.

The Gateway, a literary magazine published by the members of the college Quill Club.

Health Service

The college provides this service to safeguard the health of students. The department endeavors to work in close cooperation with the Department of Physical Education. Entrance medical and physical examinations are held jointly and the records are used in both departments for follow-up work and for making up classes in corrective exercises. In cases where it seems advisable, further clinical examinations may be required. These examinations are designed to discover defects or tendencies which may and should be corrected; to protect the individual against work for which he is physically unqualified; and to guard the college community against communicable disease. No student may report for classes before his medical and physical examinations are completed. Appointment cards are given by the Dean at the time of registration. Special stress is laid on everything pertaining to health welfare and a sound physical development.

The college maintains a well-equipped infirmary in Rice Hall. The Health Director, a graduate nurse, is in residence, and her service is available for all students suffering from minor illnesses or injuries. The nurse acts under the direction of a physician in all cases.
An appropriation is made for this service from the tuition charge, which covers entrance medical examinations, nursing care in all minor illnesses, all office consultations, medicine and dressings, and the use of the infirmary for a period of three days. For a longer period the rate is $1.00 per day.

Arrangements will be made with hospitals in the city for all cases of contagion and surgery or of prolonged or serious illness. The expense of this service is borne by the patient.

Expenses

Tuition and fees must be paid at the beginning of each semester, before completion of registration and before the student is admitted to classes. A loan fund, administered by the President at his discretion, is available for a limited number of students who cannot satisfy this specific requirement.

*This is a deposit fund. The actual fee charged will be based upon the cost of material.

An exchange fee will be charged on all out-of-town checks.

The maximum refund on tuition for students leaving college at any time after registration will not exceed $75.00.

Credits will be withheld until all obligations are met.

From tuition fees the trustees, on recommendation of the faculty and students, make appropriation for athletics, library, band, orchestra, debate and oratory, "The Mac", "Mac Weekly," health service.

If a student leaves the institution at any time after entrance without the approval of the faculty, or because he has been suspended or dismissed, no money is refunded.

Students working for the college will have all bills due the college deducted from the amount due them before being paid for work performed.
Students who are in arrears at the end of any semester will be refused credits for the semester’s work until all bills incurred by them have been paid; also future registration will be denied and no class work allowed until settlement satisfactory to the Treasurer has been made.

Special Rates

1. Sons and daughters of ministers of any denomination are allowed a rebate of twenty per cent each semester on tuition.

2. All candidates for the ministry, of whatever church or denomination, are allowed a rebate of twenty per cent each semester on tuition upon the following conditions:

   (a) Candidates for the Presbyterian ministry shall be under the care of presbyteries, and shall present to the Department of Religious Education certifications to this fact from the clerks of the presbyteries. Candidates for the ministry of other denominations shall have their purpose to enter the ministry properly certified to by the proper ecclesiastical authorities.

   (b) All such students will be held in honor bound to refund to the college treasury the amount of tuition rebated in the event of their abandoning their purpose to enter the ministry.

Rooms and Board

Room rents for all college buildings and board at Wallace Hall and Kirk Hall are to be paid in advance each semester, except as arrangements are made with the accountant for quarterly payments.

Wallace Hall

- Board, per semester, each person .................. $112.50
- Room rent, per semester, each person ............. 62.50

Rice Hall

- Room rent, per semester, each person ............. 62.50

Not open for students unless Wallace Hall is filled.

Kirk Hall

- Board, per semester, each person .................. $12.50
- Room rent, per semester, each person ............. $50.00 to 70.00

There is a limited number of rooms in Wallace Hall at $50.00 a semester. These will be assigned only upon special application, to students who furnish satisfactory evidence that they cannot afford the other rooms.

No deductions are made on board except for illness lasting a month or more. Students leaving the institution because of illness will receive an equitable percentage on board paid.
Students are charged for their rooms by the semester and until they are formally vacated and keys surrendered. Each dormitory tenant is held responsible for the rent for the entire semester, whether he has occupied the room continuously or not.

Each tenant is required to deposit $5.00 (including deposit for key) as a guarantee against damage to college property, and to make it up to that amount at the opening of each semester thereafter. From this fund are deducted (1) charges for damage for which he is personally responsible; (2) charges (pro rata) for damage done by unknown hands. The surplus, if any, is refunded to the students at the end of the year, or when they leave college.

Rooms

There are two types of rooms in Kirk Hall: 1st, a study with two, or three, adjoining single bedrooms; and 2nd, one room comprising both study and bedroom.

The study is furnished with table, bookcase, chairs and desk light.

Each bedroom is provided with single bed, mattress, pillow, dresser and wardrobe. Sheets, pillow-cases, as well as curtains for all windows are also furnished. Students must provide their own blankets, towels, rugs, and any additional fixtures they may desire.

As indicated, the prices of these rooms vary, ranging from $50 to $70 per semester, depending upon location, floor space and other specified conditions.

In Wallace Hall each room has single beds, mattresses, pillows, dresser, study table, two rockers, two study chairs and a lavatory with hot and cold water.

The drawing of rooms in the dormitories will take place on the first Tuesday in May for those who live in the dormitories. On the second Tuesday in May for those who do not live in the dormitories. After the third Tuesday application for rooms from outside will be filled. Drawings will be under the direction of the Deans.

Application for room in the dormitories should be made by the first of May to the college office. Reservation fee is $10.00. This is applied on first month’s rent. Rooms will not be held later than the opening of the term unless the room rent is advanced for the period of delay. In case applicants fail to come the reservation fees will not be returned. Rooms will be assigned in the order of application.
Students who do not live at home or with relatives are required to room in a college dormitory, insofar as accommodations are available, unless they are officially permitted to live elsewhere. Application for such permission should be made to the Dean of Women or Dean of Men.

If all dormitories are filled, students may secure living accommodations from a list of rooms approved by the college authorities. Such students are expected to conform to the general social regulations in force in the college dormitories. Change in residence shall be made only when officially approved.

Self-Support

Students desiring to do something toward defraying their own expenses can usually find a way of doing so. Many find work on Saturdays, in stores and other places of business, and have thus paid a large part of the expense of their board. Others have earned their board by working mornings and evenings. It is seldom that any worthy, capable student with energy and tact fails to find some means by which he may work his way thru college, provided the summer vacation is improved to increase his income.

The Y. M. C. A. employment bureau has been organized to assist students in finding work. There are opportunities for work in stores and offices, caring for furnaces, waiting in clubs and carrying newspapers, and in many other ways dependent upon the student's fitness. Valuable suggestions as to employment and the financial side of college life are gladly furnished to prospective students on application and every effort to assist the newcomer is cheerfully made. Address all communications to Chairman Employment Committee, Macalester College, St. Paul.

For women students, there are many opportunities each year to assist in homes near the campus. The uniform rate of four hours' service a day in exchange for room and board has been established, and about thirty girls avail themselves of this opportunity every year. Further information may be secured from the Dean of Women.
Entrance Requirements

General Statement

Macalester College is a member of the Association of American Colleges, the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and is on the approved list of the Association of American Universities. Entrance requirements are in harmony with the standards of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The satisfactory completion of fifteen units of properly co-ordinated work is required for admission to the freshman class of the college. The following units are required: four in English (or three in English and two in a foreign language), one in Algebra and one in Geometry. Not more than three units in vocational subjects (including Agriculture, Commercial Work, Domestic Science and Manual Arts) may be presented. Exception to this last requirement may in rare cases be made on the ground of otherwise superior fitness for college work and only upon approval by the cabinet and the faculty. It is strongly recommended that the student submit two or more units of consecutive work in some foreign language. By a unit is meant five recitation periods a week in a subject, carried throughout a year of thirty-six weeks. The recitation periods must be not less than forty minutes in length.

The college requires certain English and college aptitude tests of all freshmen. Students who have taken the tests given by the Association of Minnesota Colleges are exempt from these tests upon entering. Students with low rating will be limited to registration for twelve credit hours and no language courses.

Admission by Certificate

From Accredited High Schools and Academies.—Graduates of accredited high schools and academies requiring a four-year course are admitted without condition to the freshman class, subject to the requirement of the preceding paragraph. Accredited schools are those on the list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the list of Minnesota high schools prepared by the State Superintendent and similar lists of the high schools of other states.
From Accredited Three-Year Senior High Schools.—
Graduates of senior high schools, covering the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, are admitted without condition, provided they have in this time completed eleven or twelve units in the senior high school and provided that the subjects taken in the senior high school, together with the work done in the junior high school, satisfy the subject requirements stated above.

Applicants for admission to the freshman class should apply to the Registrar for the Applicant’s Blank, which should be filled out by the principal of the high school or academy in which their courses were taken, and mailed by him to the Registrar.

From Unaccredited High Schools and Academies.—Graduates of such schools should secure the Applicant’s Blank from the Registrar of the college, and have it filled out and sent to the Registrar as in the case of accredited schools. The credits will then be evaluated by the Registrar of the college and if satisfactory the student will be admitted provisionally.

Admission by Examination

Students not presenting certificates as provided for above must present a course of study equal to a four-year high school course.
Such students will be examined in the course presented by them and will be admitted to freshman standing on passing the examination satisfactorily. These examinations will be given on the Monday and Tuesday preceding the opening of the college in September.

Preparation for Entrance

The following suggestions respecting high school courses are not mandatory, but may be of value to future college students, now in high school or academy.

Suggested Units.—Students intending to major in Groups I, II or IV (see page 34), are advised to present the following units for entrance:

Physics 1
Physiology ½
Zoology ½

Admission with Advanced Standing

From Other Colleges.—Students transferring to Macalester College from accredited institutions of collegiate grade must present letters of honorable dismissal and an official transcript of previous collegiate and preparatory record.

Students with failures in another college cannot be transferred to Macalester until such failures have been cleared.

From Normal Schools.—Credits from Normal Schools are to be reckoned according to the nature and quality of the work presented as judged by the Registrar.

Requirements for Graduation

The College of Liberal Arts offers courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The Requirements for Graduation are:

A. One hundred and twenty-six academic credits, the term credit meaning one hour a week for one semester in class room or two hours a week in laboratory. Of these required credits at least thirty-two must be from courses numbered three hundred or above and not more than forty-four may be in any one department. These credits must be secured with reference to the group from which the student has chosen his major.

B. 126 honor points, granted as follows: for each credit toward graduation earned by the student with a mark of A, three honor points are given; for each credit with a mark of B, two honor points; for each credit with a mark of C, one honor point. A mark of F carries minus one honor point.

C. 5 points in Physical Education, the term point meaning the satisfactory completion of a semester course in Physical Education. Of these 5 points 3 must be secured in courses 101-102, 103 and 201-202.
Academic Credits Required of All Students:

1. 8 credits in Religion. These must include course 101 or 105.
2. 6 credits in English 101-102.
3. 6 credits in Social Sciences and History.
4. 3 credits in Philosophy 205.
5. 3 credits in Psychology 201.

Additional Academic Credits for students with a major in one of the following groups:

Group I.—

1. 28 credits in a foreign language.
2. 14 credits in a second foreign language.
   Of the above (1) and (2) at least 14 credits must be secured in college. In the case of the second language two high school units (12 credits) will suffice, but the total for both must be 42.
   One of the above languages must be Latin or Greek.
3. 12 credits in Group III.
4. 20 credits in the major subject.

Group II.—

1. 28 credits in one or two foreign languages. No language shall count toward this requirement in which the student offers fewer than 14 credits (or two high school units).
   Any part or all of this requirement may be met by entrance credits from high school.
2. 18 credits in Group II or IV other than the major subject and required courses in Religion.
3. 12 credits in Group III.
4. 20 credits in the major subject.

Group III.—

1. 8 credits in Mathematics 101-102 or 103-104.
2. 16 credits in a modern language unless the student has presented 3 entrance units in a modern language or 2 units in one language and 1 in another. A student presenting less than 3 units will be given proportional credit toward the required 16 credits.
3. 18 credits in Group III other than the major.
4. 20 credits in the major subject.

Group IV.—

Requirements the same as for Group II.
Note—Language requirements of a student whose major is in Group III must be completed by the end of the junior year.

Science requirements of the student, whose major is in Group I or II, must be completed by the end of the junior year.

The six credits in history and social sciences required of all students must be completed by the end of the junior year.

Majors and Minors.—Each candidate for a degree must elect, by the beginning of the junior year, under restrictions stated below, one major and two minors or two majors from the twenty following departments:—

Terms Defined.—A major consists of a minimum of twenty credits and a maximum of forty-four credits obtained in one department.

A minor consists of twelve credits obtained in one department.

No credit with a grade lower than C is counted toward a major or minor.

Restrictions on Choice.—

(1) At least one of the minors must be in a different group from the major. The minors are subject to the approval of the student’s adviser.

(2) The following courses are not counted toward a major or minor:—Chemistry 401, English 101-102, French 101-102 and 402, German 101-102, Greek 101-102, History 449, Latin 101-102, Mathe-

- History 101-102, 111-112
- Mathematics 101-102, 103-104, 105-106
- Music
- Physics 101-102
- Religion 102
Classification of Students

Classification without Conditions.—For freshman classification, as stated before, fifteen units of acceptable high school work or their equivalent; for sophomore, thirty-two college credits and thirty-two honor points; for junior, sixty-four credits and sixty-four honor points; for senior, ninety-six credits and ninety-six honor points.

Classification with Conditions.—A student is classified as sophomore on gaining twenty-four credits and sixteen honor points; as junior on obtaining fifty-four credits and forty-four honor points; as senior on obtaining ninety credits and eighty-four honor points.

Change of Course.—Registration at the beginning of the semester fixes the course of study for the student. Within ten days change is permitted with the written consent of the instructors concerned and the student's adviser. Dropping a subject comes under this rule.

Unfinished Courses.—Students who drop a year course at the end of one semester lose all credit in that course unless some distinct phase of the subject is completed; in which case, the instructor may grant the credit.

Preparation for Vocations

The system of majors and minors and the elective system in use here permit the student to frame his college course with some reference to his future vocation. In general the student will find the following courses helpful to him in his future vocational study.

For the Study of Medicine.—The following course is strongly advised for students who are preparing for the study of medicine. Those taking such a course are given a bachelor's degree upon the satisfactory completion of the first year's work in a recognized medical school.

For the Study of Law.—The value of a full college course in preparation for the study of law cannot be disputed. Macalester offers a number of courses that are invaluable to law students, and a college course arranged with this group of subjects as a nucleus is suggested below, showing also the possibility of a well-rounded college course that is designed to develop the best that is in the student.

Social Work.—To meet the imperative needs of our time, and in full sympathy with the practical application of Christian principles to modern conditions, the course in social work has been prepared. The student with a professional or technical career in view will find in it a solid foundation for his later special training. Supplemeniting the resources of the college are many agencies such as the great libraries of St. Paul and Minneapolis, and a large number of public institutions of various kinds.

For the Christian Ministry and Missionary Teaching.—The department of religion and the electives in Greek Testament, philosophy, ethics and history offer a course well adapted to those who have the gospel ministry in view. Those who are preparing to be missionary teachers will find in the wide range of Bible study pursued in the college an indispensable and very attractive adjunct to their course.

For Teaching.—The college offers opportunity to the student in preparation for the field of teaching. Its Liberal Arts courses give the necessary foundation for a liberal education as well as subject-matter for use in the class room. Its technical courses give the professional aspect to the student’s preparation for the vocation of teaching. The latter are concerned with the principles, methods and history of education.
Student Advisers

For registration, advice and supervision all students will be assigned to faculty advisers. Each faculty member will have from fifteen to twenty students, making it possible for each student to receive special attention in regard to his course. The adviser directs the student in the arrangement of a course of study in harmony with his tastes or prospective vocation. When students have definitely fixed upon a vocation in life they will be assigned to that member of the faculty whose department is most akin to the work they have in view. Students who have fixed upon their major study will be assigned to the department to which that major study belongs.
Courses of Study

Odd numbers refer to first semester courses. Even numbers to second semester courses. An R attached to an odd number indicates that the course is repeated the second semester.

A comma between figures of a year course indicates that either semester may be taken with credit.

Courses 101 to 199 are open to freshmen. Courses 201 to 299 are open, with restrictions, to sophomores or to those whose preparation is adequate. Courses above 300 are primarily upper class subjects with prerequisites mentioned in each department.

Biology

PROFESSORS WALTER AND BRUER

The courses have been so arranged that it is possible to choose work either of a general or a special nature. Students wishing a well-rounded education will be able to select work which will meet their needs and in which the cultural aspect is emphasized. Choices should be made from the following: Biology 101-102, 121-122, 204, 303, 304.

Those preparing to teach Biology in high schools will be able to choose suitable work and will be given opportunity for practice in laboratory instruction, grading of papers and note books, and the planning of high school courses. The following courses are suggested for Zoology: Biology 101-102, 201, 204, 205, 304, 401; for Botany: Biology 121-122, 221, 222, 401. For work suited to the needs of the pre-medics, the following are recommended: Biology 101-102, 201, 204, 301, 302, 304.

The Department recommends the following courses for its major students: a minor in Chemistry or Physics; Latin or Greek and French and German; one semester or, if at all possible, one year of Paleontology and one semester of Historical Geology; Economics or Sociology; Expression, one year.

A. Zoology

101-102. General Zoology.— MR. WALTER AND MR. BRUER

This course takes up the fundamental principles of animal biology. Representatives of the phyla of the invertebrates and vertebrates are studied with reference to structure, functions and relation to environment.

One year, two two-hour laboratory periods and two recitations a week, eight credits. This course counts four credits toward a major or minor if the student's grade is B and five credits if course 121-122 is taken also.
112. Ornithology.— Mr. Bruer
This study of birds is undertaken strictly from the scientific point of view and is designed to stimulate an appreciation of nature and to arouse a fuller understanding of some of the problems of conservation of our wild life. Open to all students.

Second semester, two lectures, laboratory, and one field trip a week, four credits.

201. Comparative Anatomy.— Mr. Walter
Consists of lectures, quizzes, assigned readings, and an intensive laboratory study of the shark, perch, necturus, pigeon and cat.

Prerequisite, course 102. First semester, two two-hour laboratory periods and two recitations a week, four credits.

204. Human Physiology.— Mr. Walter
Lectures, recitations, collateral readings, demonstrations and laboratory work on the structure and functions of the human body. Extensive use is made of anatomical charts and models. Attention is also given to personal hygiene.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits or approval of instructor. Second semester, three recitations and one optional two-hour laboratory period a week, three or four credits.

205. Introductory Entomology.— Mr. Bruer
This course deals with the life and behavior of insects and other arthropods, and their relation to plants and other animals. Emphasis will be given to those forms and problems which have a direct bearing on food conservation. Each student is required to prepare a collection. Open to all students.

First semester. Two lectures and two laboratory periods a week, four credits.

206. Economic Entomology.— Mr. Bruer
Lectures, recitations and observations in the field on forms of economic value; life histories, habits and methods of combating the injurious forms and of utilizing the beneficial. Open to all students.

Second semester, two lectures a week, two credits.

301. Vertebrate Histology.— Mr. Walter
A study of the microscopic structure of the tissues of the body. Special emphasis is placed on training in laboratory technic.

Prerequisite, course 102. First semester, two recitations and two two-hour laboratory periods a week, four credits.
302. Vertebrate Embryology.— Mr. Walter
A study of the development of the chick and the pig embryos.
Prerequisite, courses 102, 301. Second semester, two recitations and two two-hour laboratory periods a week, four credits.

303. Genetics and Eugenics.— Mr. Walter
The laws of heredity, as illustrated by animals and plants as well as the application of these laws to the betterment of the human race, will be studied. The latest edition of "Readings in Evolution, Genetics and Eugenics" by Newman will be used, supplemented by collateral readings in Thompson, Conklin and Guyer.
Prerequisite, course 102 or 121-122, or approval of the instructor. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

304. General Bacteriology.— Mr. Walter
This is a course of lectures, recitations and laboratory work suited to the needs of the general or special student who desires knowledge of the general field of bacteriology, including the cause, control and prevention of important diseases, and training in modern laboratory technic. The laboratory work is optional.
Prerequisite, course 102 or 121-122, or fifty-four credits. Two recitations and two two-hour laboratory periods a week, two or four credits.

401R. Teachers' Course.— Mr. Walter and Mr. Bruer
For those who intend to teach biology in high schools. Practical work given in the laboratory. Conferences on methods of teaching and reviews of text-books. This course does not count toward a major or minor.
Prerequisite, courses 102, 121-122, 201. Either semester, two credits.

409-410. Individual Course.— Mr. Walter and Mr. Bruer
Advanced students may, with the approval of the head of the department, take up lines of work not covered in the regular courses. Such work will consist of laboratory exercises and assigned readings.
First or second semester, or one year, two or four credits.

B. Botany

121-122. General Botany.— Mr. Bruer
A study of the principles of plant life. The first semester deals with the structure, activities, modifications and economic importance of the higher plants. During the second semester the work will involve a study of the great groups of plants with emphasis upon reproduction and evolution, some time being given to the identification and classification of higher plants in the field.

Course 122 may be taken before 121, but no credit will be given until both courses are completed.

One year, two lectures or recitations and two laboratory periods a week, eight credits. This course counts four credits toward a major or minor if the student's grade is B or better, and five credits if course 101-102 is taken also.

221. Applied Botany.—

Practical applications of plants to human life. Consideration of plants useful as foods, medicine, industrial and commercial products, ornamental plants, etc.

Prerequisite, course 121-122. First semester, two hours a week, two credits.

222. Systematic Botany.—

Identification and classification of plants. Devoted chiefly to the native plants of the region, including trees and shrubs.

Prerequisite, course 121-122. Second semester, two laboratory periods a week, two credits.

322. Morphology of Plants.—

Study of the great groups of plants. Special emphasis is given to the steps in the development of plants and a consideration of their economic importance.

Prerequisite, course 121-122. Second semester, two lecture and two laboratory periods a week, four credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

Chemistry

Professors Jones, Cunningham and Miss Marles

For a major in chemistry students are advised to take courses 101-102, 201, 202, 307-308, 309-310. A thesis is required. Other courses advised are: two years of German or French; Physics, course 201-202; Mathematics, course 201-202; Biology, course 101-102 or 121-122; Philosophy, course 209. Students wishing a minor in chemistry are advised to take courses 101-102, 201, 307-308, 309-310. Students preparing to teach chemistry should take a major or minor in that subject, also course 401, and comply with the State requirements as given under the Department of Education.
101-102. General Inorganic Chemistry.—

Mr. Jones, Mr. Cunningham and Miss Marles

The course includes a thorough study of the principal elements and their compounds, their occurrence in nature and preparation in the laboratory; also an introduction to the study of qualitative analysis.

Prerequisite, one unit high school chemistry. One year, two lectures, two recitations and six hours in laboratory a week, eight credits.

Four credits may be applied toward a major or minor if a grade of B is attained.

103-104. General Inorganic Chemistry.—

Mr. Jones, Mr. Cunningham and Miss Marles

For students not presenting high school chemistry credits. This is the same as course 101-102, but begins with more elementary chemistry.

One year, two lectures, two recitations and six hours in laboratory a week, eight credits.

Four credits may be applied toward a major or minor if a grade of B is attained.

154. Chemistry of Foods.—

Mr. Jones

A lecture course on foods, their sources, values and conservation.

Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

201. General Chemistry and Qualitative Analysis.—

Mr. Cunningham

Laboratory work on the identification of cations and anions. Lecture work is a review and continuation of course 102, in addition to the theory involved in concurrent laboratory work.

Prerequisite, Chemistry 102 or 104 and one year of college mathematics (Mathematics 102 or 104). First semester, two lectures, one recitation and six hours laboratory a week, four credits.

202. Quantitative Analysis.—

Mr. Cunningham

Lecture and laboratory work. Introduction to the methods of volumetric and gravimetric analysis.

Prerequisite, course 201. Second semester, two lectures, one recitation and nine hours laboratory a week, five credits.

303-304. Advanced Inorganic Chemistry.—Mr. Cunningham

This is a continuation of course 101-102, with an introduction to physical chemistry.

Prerequisite, course 201. One year, two lectures, two recitations and six hours in laboratory a week, six credits.
305R. Advanced Quantitative Analysis.— Mr. Cunningham
This course is a continuation of course 202.
Prerequisite, course 202. One semester, four or eight hours laboratory work a week, two or four credits.

307-308. Organic Chemistry.— Mr. Jones
A course of lectures on organic chemistry, including a study of the aliphatic and aromatic compounds. The chemistry of foods, oils and explosives is considered. Some of the important compounds are prepared before the class. A laboratory fee of one dollar is charged, except when course 309-310 is also taken.
Prerequisite, course 201. One year, two lectures and one recitation a week, four credits.

309-310. Laboratory Course in Organic Chemistry.— Mr. Jones
To be taken with or upon completion of course 307-308. Organic compounds are prepared and studied. Quantitative results are expected. This course should be taken with course 307-308 when possible.
One year, six hours a week, four credits.

311-312. Advanced Organic Chemistry and Qualitative Organic Analysis.— Mr. Jones
This course is a continuation of courses 307-308 and 309-310. The detection of common food adulterants will receive attention.
Prerequisite, course 310. One year, six hours a week, six credits.

313R. Special Analysis.— Mr. Cunningham
Individual course in quantitative analysis, the exact work to be covered depending upon the qualifications and needs of the student. Food analysis and water analysis are among the subjects available.
Prerequisite, course 202. One semester, six hours a week, three credits.

331-332. Theoretical Chemistry.— Mr. Cunningham
Lectures and laboratory work. A general study of: atomic and molecular weight determinations; properties of gases, liquids and solids; solutions; homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibrium; thermochemistry; electrochemistry; colloids.
Prerequisite, Chemistry 202, Physics 202 and Mathematics 104. Mathematics 201-202 must be taken beforehand or in conjunction. One year, three lectures and six hours laboratory a week, ten credits.
401. Teachers' Course.— Mr. Jones
A course of lectures on the teaching of chemistry.
Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, two hours a week, two credits. No fee is charged.
Credits not counted toward a major or minor.

403-404. Seminar.— Mr. Jones
A special study is made of the latest developments in chemical theories, etc. An exhaustive thesis, on an approved subject, is required. Once a month the Seminar will be open to all students interested, when reports will be made on current chemical topics and theses.
Required for a major in chemistry. Open to seniors only, except by permission.
One year, one hour a week, two credits.

Economics and Political Science
Professors Davis and Myers

A. Economics

231-232. General Principles.— Mr. Myers
A general survey of the structure, institutions and operation of our economic order, including a brief examination of early and modern theories of value and distribution.
Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. One year, three hours a week, six credits.

331. Business Organization and Finance.— Mr. Myers
A study of the different types of business organization, emphasizing the combination movement, and the chief problems encountered in financing a modern business with emphasis on the corporation.
Prerequisite, course 231. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

332. Money and Banking.— Mr. Myers
A practical study of the monetary and banking systems of the United States and the chief foreign countries.
Prerequisite, course 231. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

333-334. History of Economic Theory.— Mr. Davis
This course will trace the development of economic thought in the principal nations of Europe and America, especially in relation to philosophy and conditions of environment. The histories of Haney, Ingram and Gide will be used for reference.
Prerequisite, course 231. One year, three hours a week, six credits.
335. The Industrial History of England.—
Mr. Davis
The intention of this course is to make the student acquainted with the salient features of England’s industrial and commercial progress and thus prepare him for a study of the economic history of the United States. The works of Cheney, Ogg, Innes, Usher and others will be used for reference. A knowledge of English history is expected.
Prerequisite, course 231. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

336. Economic History of the United States.—
Mr. Davis
An historical study of American agriculture, commerce, transportation, industry and finance.
Prerequisite, course 231. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

337. Economic Geography.—
Mr. Myers
The relation of geographic factors to man’s economic institutions and activities. Class work includes the making of numerous maps and charts.
Prerequisite, course 231. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

338. Economic Problems.—
Mr. Myers
An examination of some of the problems of modern life in the light of economic theory. There will be considerable freedom in the choice of problems to be studied, but those examined will probably include the personal distribution of wealth, elimination of industrial waste and economic imperialism.
Prerequisite, course 231. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

339. Labor Problems.—
Mr. Myers
This course includes the labor problems of the employer and the worker. Chief emphasis is laid on the situation in the United States and the various subjects taken up are considered in the light of their development and causes. In some cases it is possible to suggest solutions for the problems.
Prerequisite, course 231. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

340. Economic History of Europe.—
Mr. Myers
Most of the time spent in this course is given over to a study of that part of European Economic History since the Middle Ages, including the post-war period.
Prerequisite, course 232. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930.
B. Political Science

252. Elements of Political Science.— MR. DAVIS
The aim is to trace clearly the great and distinctive features in the governments of Europe and of the United States.
Prerequisite, Sociology 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

253. The Historical Development of American Government.— MR. DAVIS
The development of American governmental institutions will be studied in relation to the various political problems with which the American people have dealt.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including History 203, 204; or taken concurrently with it. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

361. Roman Private Law.— MR. DAVIS
The object is to acquaint the student with (1) the origin and development of Roman Law; (2) its relation to modern systems of State Law. A knowledge of Latin is expected.
Prerequisite, Sociology 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

362. Elements of Jurisprudence.— MR. DAVIS
Holland's "Jurisprudence" is used. The general subjects considered are Laws and Rights, Private, Public and Adjective Law, the object being to acquaint the student with the principles of fundamental law in their historical development and their practical application to the several phases of social life.
Prerequisite, course 361. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

363. Commercial Law.— MR. DAVIS
A study of contracts, sales, agency, negotiable instruments, partnerships, corporations, insurance, personal property, real property, suretyship and bankruptcy.
Prerequisite, course 232. First semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

364. International Law.— MR. DAVIS
General principles of public international law, treating of the legal relations of states and of individuals as developed by positive agreement in the form of treaties, by common usage, and by diplomatic practice and the conduct of nations.
Prerequisite, course 361 or 362. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.
402. Method and Teaching of the Social Sciences.— Mr. Davis
The object of this course is to train the student in the methods of scientific approach and of instruction in the class room. Analysis and discussion of representative treatises. Practical exercises by students.
Prerequisites, Sociology 201 and course 232 and fifty-four credits. Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.
Other courses for which credit is given in this department are:
History 201, 202 and Philosophy 205.

Education
Professor H. L. Anderson
Students who expect to qualify for a certificate to teach in the public high schools of any state should observe the faculty ruling that they confer with this department in regard to certificate requirements not later than the junior year.
Requirements for such certificates in certain states are indicated in general as follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>State</th>
<th>Credits Required in Education</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Iowa</td>
<td>14 plus 6 in psychology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>North Dakota</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>South Dakota</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wisconsin</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Minnesota Department of Education in accordance with the statutes has directed that the requirements for a first-grade professional certificate shall be distributed as follows:

- Educational Psychology .................................. 3 credits
- Principles of Teaching .................................. 3 credits
- Special Methods or Teachers' Courses and practice teaching with observation .................................. 6 credits
- Elective Educational course .............................. 3 credits

15 credits

Faculty endorsement for this certificate will be made upon application of seniors through the office of the Registrar.
Psychology 201 is a prerequisite for all courses in Education. A minor in Education shall not include Education 411 or teachers' courses given in other departments. No student may enroll for more than two courses in this department during one semester, not including Education 411.
The faculty committee on appointments endeavors to place seniors in educational positions following their graduation. Obviously only those will receive the faculty recommendation for positions who show by their interest, ability and professional preparation that they are genuinely qualified to teach.
201R. Educational Psychology.—
Study is directed to individual differences in mental abilities, their correlation and relationship as well as their measurement. The inheritance of mental traits and instinctive elements of native equipment are given attention. Rate and progress of learning, transference of training, measurement of achievement, and the psychology of school subjects. This course is required for the first-grade professional certificate in Minnesota.
Open to sophomores and juniors. Prerequisite, Psychology 201. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.

301R. Principles of Teaching.—
This course is concerned with principles in learning and directing learning in the high school. Motivation and adapting instruction to individual differences are given careful consideration. Management of classes, the purposes of recitation, and type methods are studied and their adaptability considered. Methods of testing achievement, various outcomes of a learning situation and planning are given careful attention. This course is required for the first-grade professional certificate in Minnesota.
Prerequisite, course 201. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.

303. History of Education.—
Study is given to educational objectives, systems, and movements during the ancient and medieval periods of history. The revival of learning and the rise of religious and scientific inquiry, the rise of democracy, a new theory for education, and the establishment of state systems of education as exemplified in leading nations with special emphasis on the United States, are considered.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including Psychology 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

305. Public School Administration.—
Deals with American federal and state policy, with principles that underlie the administration of the public school system from the standpoint of the town, school district, city, county and state. Financing the schools, units of control, school boards, delegation of authority to superintendent of schools and organization of teaching staff receive special attention. Training, certification, appointment, tenure, pay and pensions for teachers are given consideration. Fulfills the requirements made of superintendents and principals for a course in administration.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.
306. Principles of Secondary Education.—
Considers the development of American secondary education, the secondary school pupils, their physical and mental growth, variation and selection. It takes up the aims and functions, and relationships to elementary and higher education. The secondary school curriculum, vocational guidance, community relationships, the school plant and library are given careful consideration. Fulfills the requirements made of superintendents and principals for a course in supervision.

Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

402. Educational Problems.—
An advanced course devoted entirely to investigation of problems offered by the class. Each student works out his own problem in the form of a thesis based upon his investigation. Group meets on arranged schedule for reports and criticisms. Restricted to seniors who have the approval of the department of Education.

Second semester, one or two credits.

404. Statistical Methods in Education.—
This course deals with statistical method and such terminology as correlation coefficients, median, mode, variability, frequency tables, frequency surfaces, standard deviation, probability curve, percentile ranks, and so on. The aim is to give the technic for the presentation and interpretation of educational data.

Prerequisite, ninety credits, including courses 201 and 301. Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

411R. Practice Teaching and Observation.—
Actual participation in or handling of teaching situations, under supervision when possible and under conditions which may approximate or suggest subsequent teaching experience. Opportunity for the work of this course will be secured through various educational institutions in the Twin Cities. Observation of teaching, lesson plans, teaching, conferences, reports.

Open to seniors only and, unless excused by the faculty, required of all who expect to teach. Not counted for a minor in Education.

101, 102. Algebra, Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry.—

Mr. Kingery

This course is for those who present only two units in high school mathematics.

One year, four hours a week, eight credits.

103-104. Analysis.—

Mr. Jensen

A course in College Algebra, Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry. Methods of calculus are introduced.

One year, four hours a week, eight credits.

105, 106. Mechanical Drawing.—

Mr. Kingery

A course designed for those taking shop work or preparing for technical schools.

One, two or three semesters, four hours a week, one, two or three credits.

201-202. Advanced Analysis.—

Mr. Kingery

Rectangular, polar and parametric equations, derivatives, integrals, double and triple integration, differential equations.

Prerequisite, course 104. Four hours a week, eight credits.

204. Surveying.—

Prerequisite, course 104. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

205-206. Mathematics of Investment.—

Mr. Jensen

Prerequisite, course 104. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

301-302. Advanced Calculus.—

Mr. Jensen

Integral Calculus with introduction to Differential Equations.

Prerequisite, course 202. One year, three hours a week, six credits.

351-352. Astronomy.—

Mr. Kingery

Text-book, lectures and practical work with sextant, transit and clock.

Prerequisite, course 202. One year, four hours a week, six credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

401R. Advanced Algebra and Geometry.—

Mr. Jensen

Intended especially for those preparing to teach.

Prerequisite, course 202. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.
Music

MR. JENSEN, MR. FENYVES, MR. GUGGISBERG, MR. AYRES, MISS HECK AND MISS YOUNG

Music may be chosen as a major or a minor. Students with a major in music and a minor in history may count History of Music as part of the minor. The total number of credits permitted in music is forty-four.

For a major in music the minimum number of credits required in applied music is eight. The maximum number of credits permitted in applied music is sixteen. Four credits in Physics 101-102 are required.

1. Courses required for a major in music with a maximum number of credits (44):

3. Courses required for a minor in music:

| Elementary Harmony | Ear Training | History of Music |

For a detailed description of courses, see Conservatory of Music.

101-102. Elementary Harmony.—  Mr. Jensen
One year, two hours a week, four credits.

103-104. Ear Training.—  Mr. Jensen
One year, one hour a week, two credits.
201-202. Advanced Harmony.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisite, course 102. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

203-204. History of Music.— Mr. Jensen
One year, three hours a week, six credits.

301-302. Analysis.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisite, course 202, or permission of instructor. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

303-304. Counterpoint.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisite, course 202, or permission of instructor. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

305-306. Composition.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisite, courses 302 and 304. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

307-308. Advanced History of Music.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisite, course 204. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

401-402. Public School Music.— Miss Heck
Prerequisite, one year of voice. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

403-404. Advanced Public School Music.— Miss Heck
Prerequisite, course 402. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

405-406. Normal Training in Piano.— Miss Young
One year, two hours a week, four credits.

407-408. Normal Training in Voice.— Mr. Guggisberg
One year, two hours a week, four credits.

Applied Music.—
Piano, Voice, Organ, Violin.

Required of freshmen entering second semester. Second semester, five hours a week, four credits.
Philosophy

Professor Anderson

A major in this department includes courses 205, 209, 220, 312. A minor should include courses 205, 209, 220 or 312.

The department recommends to students purposing intensive work in this field the cultivation as far as possible of the languages, social and historical studies and the sciences.

205R. Ethics.—

This course includes an historical sketch of ethical theories and of the conceptions of life that have been held, a study of ethical theory and of practical problems.

The attempt is made in this course to develop a system of thought that does justice to Christian motive and doctrine and is, at the same time, based upon a proper scientific and philosophical basis.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits or Psychology 201. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.

209. Logic and Scientific Method.—

This is a course chiefly in the methods of investigation and proof. It includes the elements of deduction and induction, a study of fallacies, their nature and kinds, and brief discussion of the theory of logic.

First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

220. Introduction to Philosophy.—

A course intended to introduce the student to the problems that concern the meaning of the world. It will seek to explain what the chief problems are, indicate some of the solutions offered and help the student in some constructive thinking about them.

Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

305. Development of Morals and of Moral Ideas.—

A study in the development of morals as illustrated in primitive and more advanced peoples; a comparison of some types of morality; the growth of morality in the individual.

Prerequisite, course 205 and Psychology 201. Three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930. Alternates with course 325.
311. History of Philosophy, Ancient and Medieval.—
Beginning with the early Greeks this course follows the course of philosophic thought down to the period of Bruno, with the purpose of noting the development and relationships of the chief philosophical concepts. Attention is concentrated upon the leading thinkers and on the movement of thought. Collateral readings in Plato, Aristotle and others are required.
Open to students of sophomore standing, who have taken course 205 or Psychology 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

312. History of Philosophy, Modern.—
Continuing the preceding, from Descartes to the present time. Constant use of Rand’s classical Modern Philosophers is made for collateral reading.
Open to students of sophomore standing, who have taken course 205 or Psychology 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

313-314. Formal Logic.—
This covers the formal aspects of the subject in some detail. It includes the consideration of modal propositions, existential import, and other matters not usually dealt with in introductory courses.
Prerequisite, course 209-210. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

325. On the Relation of Mind and Body.—
An historical sketch of opinions held on this subject, followed by discussion of theories of the present day as they relate to this topic.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. First semester, two hours a week, two credits.

326. Philosophy of Religion.—
This course has in view, in particular, the conceptions of God, of the world and of man, which are involved in Christianity. These are compared as thoroly as the time allows with the various conflicting conceptions.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930. Alternates with course 330.

330. Modern Idealism.—
Typical idealistic philosophers are studied thru selected works with the hope of awakening a larger appreciation of the idealistic point of view.
Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.
Physics

Professors Alexander and Yarwood

For a major in Physics courses 201-202, 301-302, 311 and eight credits in college Chemistry are required.

101-102. Sound and the Physics of Musical Instruments.—

Mr. Alexander

This course includes a thorough study of sound and of musical instruments; the factors that determine the tone qualities of the various instruments; the musical scale, its temperament and production on different instruments, and the propagation, reflection, absorption and influence of sound waves and the acoustics of buildings.

One year, one lecture and one laboratory demonstration period a week, four credits.

201-202. General Physics.—

Mr. Alexander and Mr. Yarwood

This is a short course which covers the entire subject in one year and consists of lectures, demonstrations and laboratory work. The aim is to lay the foundation for those desiring to do advanced work and to afford others an opportunity for securing the practical knowledge and training in scientific method which the subject presents. This course meets the minimum requirement for pre-medical students. Students without credit in high school physics will be required to do supplementary work under a tutor.

Prerequisite, Mathematics 102. One year, six hours a week, eight credits.

301. Advanced Mechanics, Sound, Heat.—

Mr. Alexander

This course includes a thorough study of mechanics, sound and heat. A large part of the time is spent in laboratory work and the student's conceptions of physical laws are developed as largely as possible from observation and experiment. About thirty quantitative experiments are performed by each student in the laboratory, the aim being to afford a working knowledge of modern measuring instruments of precision and to develop quantitative methods, as well as to discover and verify the laws of nature. Careful attention is given to the problem of the errors in measurement, the student being required in each case to consider the origin of the errors and methods for their elimination and to compute the probable errors of observations and results.

Prerequisite, course 202. First semester, six hours a week, four credits.
302. Advanced Light and Electricity.— Mr. Alexander
This course includes a thorough study of electricity and light. Thirty experiments are performed, twenty of which are in electricity, giving the student an opportunity to familiarize himself with electrical measuring instruments. The work in light includes measurements with the photometer, spectrometer and interferometer.

Prerequisite, course 202. Second semester, six hours a week, four credits.

311R. Advanced Physics.— Mr. Alexander
In this course a thorough study is made of topics, approved by the head of the department. The work is largely individual and experimental. The aim is to deepen rather than to broaden the student's knowledge of the subject and to cultivate a taste for research.

The course may be repeated with different topics.

Prerequisite, course 301 or 302 and Mathematics 202. Either semester, four hours a week, two credits.

402. Teachers' Course.— Mr. Alexander
A study of the content of a high school course in physics, the arrangement of the subject-matter and the methods of teaching that will stimulate thoughtful interpretation of physical laws.

Prerequisite, course 301 or 302. Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

Psychology

Professor Schumacher

201R. General Psychology.—
An introductory survey of the theory, principles, laws and applications of normal human psychology. An impartial position is assumed with regard to contending views and schools. An attempt is made to point the study toward a more intelligent understanding of human conduct in everyday life.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.

301. Problems of Psychology.—
A study, in greater detail, of some of the principles and theories of psychology, designed to supplement certain of the more important material dealt with in General Psychology. The experimental and comparative methods will be used insofar as conditions permit.

Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, two hours a week, two credits.
302. Psychology and Personality.—
A psychological study of Personality in Experience, dealing with the individual and his development in such realms as the social, esthetic, moral and religious. Consideration of man's original equipment, its modification in experience, concepts of self, motivation and creative work, and the drawing of material from the fields of literature, drama, religion, art and science, will be included in the work of the course.

Prerequisite, course 201. Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

303. Applied Psychology.—
Psychology in its practical application to major fields of human endeavor, such as law, medicine, education, business and industry, together with principles of vocational psychology, and methods whereby human behavior may be predicted and controlled.

Prerequisites, fifty-four credits and course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

304. Abnormal Psychology.—
An inquiry into the origin and development of abnormal behavior; relation of normal to abnormal behavior; the psychopathology of normal life; disorders of sensation, perception, association, memory and emotion; hysteria, suggestion and hypnosis, dreams, compensatory disorders; effect upon total personality; possible approaches to adjustment; a program of mental hygiene for college students.

Prerequisites, fifty-four credits and course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

305. The Psychology of Childhood.—
A study of childhood, including the sources and characteristics of original nature and how it may be modified; social and non-social instincts; the original basis of the power to think; imagination in childhood; plasticity and habit formation; play and its significance; religious and moral tendencies, and suggestions regarding mental health in childhood.

Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

306. The Psychology of Adolescence.—
The general characteristics of the adolescent period; its influence, physiological characteristics, accompanying mental and social changes; the appreciation of art and beauty, and the growth of moral concepts, with additional work toward the development of a better understanding regarding this period in the life of the individual.

Prerequisite, course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

Other courses for which credit is given in this department are: Education 201, Religion 336 and Sociology 301.

Religion

PROFESSORS WALLACE, FRANKLIN, KAGIN AND FLETCHER

The aim of the department is two-fold: first, to familiarize every student of the institution with the literature upon which Christianity is based and lead him to a rational, Christian interpretation of the universe; and second, to discover, to inspire and train those students who have the capacity for Christian leadership, for professional or lay service in the church. The work of the department is given on three levels, as follows:

Required Courses.—8 credits in the department are required for graduation. These must include 101 or 105.

Service Minor.—The aim of this minor is to give leadership training to those students who wish to devote some of their time to volunteer work in the various activities of the church. 12 credits, including courses 201 and 321 are required in addition to courses 101-102 or 105.

Vocational Major.—

1. This schedule aims to give a prevocational foundation to those who are preparing to study for the Christian ministry. At least 20 credits are required, including courses 103-104, 201, 321 and 335.

   Prerequisites, course 101-102, or 105, Philosophy 220, and Greek 101-102.

2. This plan aims to give professional training that will equip the student to undertake the work of director of religious education, pastor's assistant, church secretary, or teacher of week-day schools of religion. At least 20 credits are required, including courses 103-104, 201, 311, 321, 335 and one of the following methods courses 322, 331, 332 and 334.

   Prerequisites, courses 101-102, or 105, Philosophy 220, Sociology 201 and Education 201.
101-102. The Life of Christ.— MR. FRANKLIN
This is studied by means of a harmony of the gospels. By way of introduction attention is directed to the political and religious condition of the time and to the characteristics and view-point of the gospel writers. By discriminating discussion of the teachings of Christ and a realistic presentation of the facts and incidents of His life an effort is made to deepen personal faith in Christ as the Savior of men and to bring the student into appreciation of Jesus as the master teacher of all time. Attention is directed primarily to the careful study and interpretation of the text of the gospels.
Required of freshmen, one semester, two hours a week, two credits. Elective, one semester, two hours a week, two credits.
Course 105 or, on approval of the department, course 103-104 may be substituted for this course.

103-104. Old Testament History.— MR. FRANKLIN
A study of the History of the Hebrew people from the earliest times to the Maccabean period. This course is basic, a prerequisite to advanced work in the department. Offered in special cases in place of course 101-102.
One year, two hours a week, four credits. Elective either semester.

105R. The Life of Christ.— MR. FLETCHER
A rapid survey of the material covered in course 101-102, with less emphasis upon detail, and more stress laid upon the large lines of development, and the permanent results of the career of Jesus Christ. This course may be substituted for the required semester of course 101-102.
Either semester, two hours a week, two credits.

201R. The Missionary Labors of the Apostles.— MR. KAGIN
These studies are based on the Acts of the Apostles and in part on the New Testament Epistles. The growth of the early church is carefully traced and the whole movement is viewed as a continuance of the work of Christ thru the agency of the Holy Spirit and of His inspired apostles. The authorship and credibility of the Acts, its teaching concerning Jesus, the Holy Spirit, and the organization of the early church receive special attention.
Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. Either semester, two hours a week, two credits.
203. Church History.— Mr. Kagin

This course is designed to give a survey of the rise, growth, and development of the Christian Church to the present time. Special emphasis is given to outstanding characters and events.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

204. Missions and World Citizenship.— Mr. Kagin

A survey course of the progress of world-wide Christian propaganda. Lectures, lantern slides, character sketches of great missionaries by members of the class, and letters from missionaries on the field are features of the course. Special attention is given to current movements in foreign lands which bear on the mission problem.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

205-206. The Literary Study of the Bible.— Mr. Franklin

This course is designed for students desiring to make a thorough study of the various types of literature represented in the Hebrew and Christian Scriptures. Emphasis is laid on the growth of the literature out of historical situations, and on the special characteristics of the various types of literary production. First semester: Old Testament. Second semester: New Testament.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

303. Oriental History Contemporary with the Old Testament.— Mr. Franklin

This course includes (1) a study of the history and religion of Babylonia, Assyria and Egypt; (2) the relation of this material to the explication of Old Testament history.

Prerequisite, course 101 or 105. First semester, two hours a week, two credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

304. Prophets of Israel.— Mr. Franklin

This course consists of a careful study of the prophets, their place in history and in the life of their nation and their communities. Emphasis is laid upon their ethical and religious messages and their permanent contribution to the religious thinking of the world.

Second semester, two hours a week, two credits. Not offered 1929-1930.
311. Essentials of Christian Belief.—

The aim of this study is to lead the thoughtful student to discover the reasonableness of the essentials of the Christian faith in this scientific age. The following topics will be discussed: God, the self, revelation, redemption, and life after death.

First semester, two hours a week, two credits.

312. Comparative Religion.—

A study of the great religious systems of the world including Hinduism, Buddhism, Zoroastrianism, Confucianism, Taoism, Shintoism and Islam. An analysis of the elements common to these systems and Christianity and of the elements that are peculiar to Christianity.

Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

313. Social Teachings of Christianity.—

This includes a careful study of the social teachings of the Bible, their influence on the institutions of mankind, their application to current problems, comparison with the social teaching of some of the other leading religions.

First semester, two hours a week, two credits.

314. Christianity and the State.—

The object of this course is to train the student in Christian statesmanship, to ascertain and classify the biblical principles that have to do with the functions and problems of the State, including the State's international relations, to trace the influence of these principles in the development of free institutions, to make clear the moral basis of democracy, to show that the highest statesmanship must be Christian and that this statesmanship is imperatively demanded by present world conditions and that by these alone can party platforms and public policies be soundly tested.

Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.

321. Organization and Administration of Religious Education.—

A comprehensive survey of the problem of the organization of church schools and their correlation with public school systems. Special emphasis is given to a study of the organization and administration of the local church school and the week-day school of religion.

Prerequisite: fifty-four credits. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.
322. Curriculum Building in Religious Education.—Mr. Fletcher
The purpose of this course is to study the origins and historical development of the present religious curriculum, to formulate the educational principles and to state the fundamental theory which should govern the making of a curriculum of religious education, and to describe and in some measure to estimate the essential value of the current curricula of our church schools in the light of the most significant trends in modern educational theory and practice.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

331. Week-Day Religious Education.—Mr. Fletcher
A study of the origin, growth and development of the week-day school of religion. Emphasis is laid on organization, administration, needs of the curriculum, community cooperation, and correlation of the work with the public school system. Opportunity is given for practical experience in week-day schools.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. First semester, three hours a week, three credits, one of which is earned by practical experience.

332. Young People's Work.—Mr. Fletcher
This course is designed to acquaint the student with the history, problems, and methods of work for adolescents in the local church.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

334. Pedagogy in Religious Education.—Mr. Fletcher
A study of the theory and technic of teaching religion, including objectives and classroom procedure, and the planning, preparation and presentation of lessons.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits, one of which is earned by practical experience.

335. Principles of Moral and Religious Education.—Mr. Kagin
A critical examination of the principles underlying educational theory as related to the moral and religious fields with special consideration given to the bearing of current philosophical and psychological systems upon the teaching of religion. An attempt is made to point out adequate foundations upon which a system of religious training may be built.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including Philosophy 220. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.
336. Psychology of Religious Experience.—Mr. Kagin

A study of the following phases of religious experience will be taken up from the psychological point of view: analysis of religious experience, its relation to general psychology; racial roots, the personal factor, and the origin and development of religious experience; sin, conversion, conduct control, belief in God, worship, prayer, inspiration and belief in life after death.

Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including Psychology 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

Psychology 305 and 306 may count toward a major or minor in the Department of Religion.

Sociology

Professors Ryder and Berry

Courses taken in Sociology may count toward a major or minor in Social Work, and courses taken in Social Work may count toward a major or minor in Sociology.

A. Sociology

201R. Introduction to Sociology.—Mr. Ryder

An introductory and orientation course in the social sciences; a study of the development of human societies, institutions and social organization; human nature; society and the group; isolation and social contact; communication; competition, conflict, accommodation and assimilation; social forces; social control; collective behavior and social progress.

Prerequisite, twenty-four credits. Either semester, three hours a week, three credits.

301. Social Psychology.—Mr. Ryder

The application of the principles of psychology to social life and behavior; instinctive and emotional expression; gesture, language and communication; conscious and unconscious imitation; objectivity and self-consciousness; wishes and attitudes; the interactions of individuals and groups; mass phenomena and social adjustments.

Prerequisites, course 201 and Psychology 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

303. Social Origins.—Mr. Ryder

A study of social origins and cultural development; stages in cultural evolution: theories of culture; primitive concepts and the origin of cultural patterns; the development of tools, food processes, agriculture, war, clothing, decorations, housing, fine arts, property, the family, law and government, morality, religion, education and science; curves of civilization; human culture in retrospect and prospect.

Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

304. Criminology and Penology.— Mr. Ryder
A study of the problem of crime and criminals; factors in criminality; the evolution and theory of punishment; penal institutions, parole, and indeterminate sentence; police, courts, and other agencies of justice; social treatment and prevention of crime.

Prerequisite, course 301. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

305. Modern Cities.— Mr. Ryder
A sociological study of modern city life; a survey of social changes, and their relation to urban civilization; the attraction of the city; urban ecology and institutions; rural versus urban mores; municipal problems in the United States; the urban community and the technic of social control.

Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

306. Sociology of Rural Life.— Mr. Ryder
The background and development of country life; rural conveniences, communication, cooperation; the farmer and politics;
rural social institutions, especially the family, school, church and social centre; rural leadership, surveys, community organization and social agencies.

Prerequisite, course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

307. Social Control.— Mr. Ryder
This course is an inquiry into the nature and means of the control of human behavior. The following agencies of control will be canvassed: the crowd, ceremony, prestige, taboo, myth, legend, ritual, dogma, satire, laughter, threats, punishments, news, advertising, propaganda, the mores, laws, government and religion.

Prerequisite, course 201. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.
308. Social Guidance.— Mr. Ryder
A study of major social problems, or man’s quest for social guidance; the spirit and method of science; society and the objective of the good life; the individual and society; social waste and maladjustment; the organic relationships involved in all social problems; social planning, social values, public welfare, social science; the ends of social endeavor.
Prerequisite, fifty-four credits, including course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

310. Social Progress.— Mr. Ryder
A survey and analysis of the theories of society which have been held by the different nations and schools of thought. The course will deal first, with the great values and ends that lie behind the scientific and other endeavors of man and secondly, with the agents, processes, attitudes, technic, institutions and situations that have either thwarted or advanced social progress.
Prerequisite, course 201. Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

B. Social Work

152. The Field of Social Work.— Miss Berry
An introductory course in social problems. Their causes, prevention and treatment are studied by means of readings, lectures and visits to social agencies. The course is planned to aid students to meet their obligations as Christian citizens.
Second semester, three hours a week, three credits.

251-252. Social Case Work.— Miss Berry
This includes a study of the technic of analysis and treatment of individual and family problems. Fundamental principles of social treatment are taught thru the study of case records, readings and lectures.
Prerequisite, course 152. One year, three hours a week, six credits.

253, 254. Child Welfare.— Miss Berry
The obligations of society to the child; a study of social agencies and laws for the welfare of the child. This includes problems of child labor, vocational guidance, health, mental hygiene, recreation, dependency and juvenile delinquency.
Prerequisite, course 152. One year, three hours a week, six credits.
351. The Family.— Miss Berry
Contemporary problems of the family, including family attitudes, antagonisms, changing status of women, divorce, marriage laws and employment of women.

The necessary background is secured by a study of the family as the principal primary group and a medium of control, its various forms and their contributions.

Prerequisites, course 152 and fifty-four credits. First semester, three hours a week, three credits.

352. Field Work.— Miss Berry
The application of the principles of social case work thru field work in cooperation with the St. Paul United Charities.

Prerequisites, courses 251, 351, Economics 231, Sociology 301 and ninety credits. Second semester, six hours of field work, two credits.

353. Settlements.— Miss Berry
The history, philosophy, development and spiritual significance of the settlement, its problems and activities.

Special emphasis on the technic of program planning and club leadership.

Spanish
Professor Chalfant

101-102. Elementary Spanish.—
Grammar, composition, conversation, reading.

One year, five hours a week, eight credits.
103-104. Intermediate Spanish.—
Composition and conversation, together with readings largely from Latin American literature and reports from Spanish periodicals.
One year, four hours a week, eight credits.

Reproductions and reports.
One year, three hours a week, six credits.

303-304. Introduction to the Study of the Modern Spanish Drama.—
The authors to be especially studied—Galdos, the Quinteros, Benavente.
One year, three hours a week, six credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

311. Advanced Composition.—
This course consists of letter-writing, free reproductions and original compositions. As a part of the work there will be given a complete review of Spanish Grammar.
Prerequisite, course 104. First semester, two hours a week, two credits. Not offered 1929-1930.

313. Modern Spanish-American Literature.—
The object of this course is practical. Lectures in Spanish will be given by the instructor on the history, development and literature of the Spanish-American countries. Outside reading and reports in Spanish will be required of the students.
Prerequisite, course 104. First semester, two hours a week, two credits.

402. * Teachers’ Course.—*
In this course the modern methods of teaching Spanish are discussed. Text-books and other supplementary books and material useful in the teaching of Spanish are recommended and examined. A review of Spanish grammar and a study of phonetics are carried on throughout the course. Observation of high school, college and university classes in Spanish, with reports on such observation is required.
Prerequisite, two years of Spanish. Second semester, two hours a week, two credits.
Physical Education

All candidates for a degree are required to have two years of Physical Education and a semester course in Personal Hygiene. First year students must register for courses 101-102 and 103.

Course 105 is required unless the candidate is able to pass an elementary swimming test. Opportunity to pass this test is given near the end of the freshman year.

In September and June of every year each student is given a thorough physical examination. Special work is arranged for those who show a need of corrective exercises or for those who are unable to take the regular courses.

Men

MR. PRIMROSE, DIRECTOR

Courses 203-204 and 205-206 may be substituted for course 201-202.

101-102. Elementary Gymnastics.—
Correct posture in standing, sitting and walking; marching; tactics; calisthenics. Beginning light and heavy apparatus work. Boxing, wrestling and swimming. When the weather permits, out-of-door mass games, as well as a variety of competitive games, may be substituted for the indoor work.
Required of freshmen. One year, two hours a week.

103R. Personal Hygiene.—
Lectures and discussions of the relation of exercise to correct habits of living.
Required of freshmen, one semester, one hour a week.

105R. Elementary Swimming.—
This course aims to enable the student to swim well enough to meet emergencies.
Open to all, two hours a week.

201-202. Advanced Gymnastics and Apparatus Work.—
Physiology of exercise. Leadership developed by students taking charge of class groups. Gymnastic, wrestling, boxing and swimming teams organized.
Prerequisite, course 102. One year, two hours a week.

203-204. Advanced Swimming.—
A continuation of course 105. May be substituted for course 201-202.
Prerequisite, course 105, or equivalent. One year, two hours a week.
205-206. Athletics.—
All students will be given an opportunity and are encouraged to participate in some form of athletics. A student who has attended the regular practice of intercollegiate teams for three semesters, providing he has average proficiency in these sports, may substitute this attendance for course 201-202.

302. Athletic Coaching.—
Football, basketball, baseball, track and field athletics will be offered. Schedule making, equipment and care of teams. For those who expect to do high school coaching.
Prerequisite, course 102, and regular attendance at practice of intercollegiate teams. Second semester.

Women
MISS CAMPBELL, DIRECTOR

General Statement

The Conservatory of Music offers a thorough course of instruction in voice, piano, organ, violin and other stringed instruments; also a theoretical course including Harmony, Counterpoint, Form and Analysis, Composition, Musical History and Public School Music. In each branch of musical study a systematic course, leading to graduation, will be pursued. Time required for completion varies—the length of course depending on the student’s ability and intelligent devotion to work.

Entrance.—Students who expect to graduate must enter at the beginning of the school year. Those not wishing to graduate may enter at any time in the year.

Upon entrance students are examined, classified and placed in their proper grade by the director.

Degrees and Certificates

Bachelor of Music Degree.—This degree is recommended only to those who, when they enter college, have an unusual talent for Applied Music and who are desirous of reserving ample time for practice. They are then allowed to obtain in music eighty of the one hundred twenty-six credits required for graduation.

Credits in Applied Music are based on the number of lessons taken, the number of hours of practice, and the work accomplished. The candidate is expected to show marked ability for public performance by appearing frequently in student recitals and by giving at least three public recitals, from memory, of advanced difficulty. Credit toward the degree is granted for recital work.
Bachelor of Arts Degree with Major in Music.—Any college student may elect Music as a major or minor. On a major, the maximum number of credits allowed is forty-four, and the minimum required is twenty-eight. A minor in Music requires a minimum of twelve credits.

Diploma of the Conservatory.—This diploma is awarded to any student who completes the senior grade in any branch of Applied Music, together with the following theoretical work: eight credits (two years) in Harmony, two credits (one year) in Ear Training, four credits (one year) in Form and Analysis, four credits (one year) in Counterpoint, and six credits (one year) in History of Music.

One public recital is to be given in the junior year and one in the senior year.

This course is open to those who are not enrolled in the college.

Certificate of the Conservatory in Public School Music.—This certificate is given to those who complete the two years' course in Public School Music Methods, two years of Harmony, one year of Ear Training, one year of History of Music and one year of Voice. The Department of Education of the State of Minnesota grants a certificate to those who complete this course.

Certificate of the Conservatory in Normal Piano or Voice.—This certificate is granted to those who complete one year of Normal Training, together with two years of Harmony, one year of Ear Training, and one year of Musical History. The course may be completed in two years provided the student shows enough proficiency in the chosen branch of Applied Music.

Courses of Study

Theory

101-102. Elementary Harmony.—Mr. Jensen

Text-book used, "The Theory and Practice of Tone Relations" by Goetschius.

One year, two hours a week, four credits.

103-104. Ear Training.—Mr. Jensen

Required of all students of Harmony. One year, one hour a week, two credits.

201-202. Advanced Harmony.—Mr. Jensen

Text-book used, "The Theory and Practice of Tone Relations" by Goetschius.

Prerequisite, course 102. One year, two hours a week, four credits.
301-302. Form and Harmonic Analysis.— MR. JENSEN
This includes analysis of harmonic structure and a study of form structure from the simple period to the larger complex types of musical composition. It is the purpose of the course to acquaint the student with the means and methods employed by the masters in the art-craft of music building. Text-books used, "Harmonic Analysis" by Cutter, and "Lessons in Music Form" by Goetschius.
Prerequisite, course 202. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

303-304. Counterpoint.— MR. JENSEN
This course includes simple counterpoint in strict style, in two, three, four or more parts; invertible counterpoint; imitation; elementary fugal exposition.
Prerequisite, course 202. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

203-204. History of Music.— MR. JENSEN
Music is one of the most vital forms of self-expression possessed by humanity. Musical art, as we enjoy it today, is the fruit of many centuries of evolutionary development. It is the function of history to trace this growth from its remote beginnings, on through its numerous intermediate stages, down to the present era. This course includes a broad and comprehensive survey of the entire field of Musical History, supplemented by special study of the chief branches of the art, and of the forms and instruments pertaining to each. The text-book used is "The History of Music" by Pratt. For research, our students have access to excellent reference works in the St. Paul and Minneapolis public libraries.
One year, three hours a week, six credits.

307-308. Advanced History of Music.— MR. JENSEN
Special research work in various branches and periods of music.
Prerequisite, course 204. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

491-492. Public School Music Methods.— MISS HECK
This course is devoted to the study and demonstration of methods and materials for the kindergarten and the first six grades. Special attention is given to the study of the child voice; rote singing; introduction of sight-reading; tonal and rhythmic problems; testing and classification of voices; music appreciation. Observation of classroom work is required.
Prerequisite, one year of voice. One year, two hours a week, four credits.
403-404. Advanced Public School Methods.— Miss Heck
This course is devoted to the study and demonstration of methods and materials for seventh and eighth grades, Junior and Senior High School. Special attention is given to three- and four-part music; the changed voice; conducting; chorus; glee club; harmony; courses in music. Observation and practice teaching required.
Prerequisite, course 402. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

405-406. Normal Training in Piano.— Miss Young
A study of the principles underlying piano technic; modern methods of teaching piano. Special attention is given to the child’s first lessons. Practice teaching required.
One year, two hours a week, four credits.

407-408. Normal Training in Voice.— Mr. Guggisberg
This course is open only to students who have had at least one year intensive voice study. The course includes voice history, problems in different methods of voice building, the psychology of singing and voice physiology, practical study of different voices and the principles of teaching, under supervision.
One year, two hours a week, four credits.

305-306. Composition.— Mr. Jensen
Prerequisites, courses 302 and 304. One year, two hours a week, four credits.

Piano
Mr. Fenyves, Mr. Jensen and Miss Young

A candidate for entrance to the freshman year in piano should have a good knowledge of all scales and arpeggios and should present at least one movement from an easy sonata of Haydn, Mozart or Beethoven. Those who are deficient in entrance requirements must enter one of the preparatory grades. No college or conservatory credits are granted for these grades.

Below is given a brief outline of technical work to be followed as closely as possible by the instructors. At the close of each semester, the student is examined by the director upon the work of that semester as outlined, and progress toward completion of the course is determined upon the result of that examination.
Freshman I.—Scales (major, harmonic, minor and chromatic) in 8th notes. M. M. 72 quarters
Major and minor tonic triads and inversions.

Freshman II.—Scales in 8th notes. M. M. 100 quarters
Parallel and contrary motion.
Selections from French and English suites of Bach.

Sophomore I.—Scales in 16th notes. M. M. 72 quarters
Thirds, sixths and tenths.

Sophomore II.—Scales in 16th notes. M. M. 90 quarters
Tonic triad arpeggios, parallel and contrary motion. Two-part Inventions of Bach.

Junior I.—Scales in 16th notes. M. M. 108 quarters
Dominant and diminished seventh chords, solid, broken and arpeggios.

Junior II.—Scales in 16th notes. M. M. 120 quarters
Octave scales. Review of previous work. Three-part Inventions of Bach. A public recital is required in this year.

Senior I.—Scales in 16th notes. M. M. 144 quarters
Double thirds and double sixths. Well-tempered Clavichord of Bach.

Senior II.—A graduation recital.

Voice

Instruction in voice is based upon the best points taken from different methods according to the needs of the individual. The student should have had one year of piano or should take up the study of this instrument at the Conservatory while studying voice.

Freshman Year.—A study of the simplicity of breath control as applied to vocal as well as dramatic art; a study of the vowels; exercises in relaxation; drill in intonation and rhythm, tone production, and placing. The instructor will choose vocalizes best adapted to the needs of the student. At least twenty songs of moderate difficulty must be memorized, with special attention to English diction.

Sophomore Year.—Continued drill in vocal technic, quality and equality of tone production, interpretation, enunciation, accuracy and style. Four easier selections from oratorio and opera. Rudiments of Italian diction and the study of early Italian music. Fifteen classic art songs must be memorized and only such songs are accepted toward graduation.

Junior Year.—Drill in vocal technic, sight singing, ear tests and style. A working knowledge of one foreign language, either French or German, as outlined in the regular college course is required. Special attention is paid to diction in these languages. Fifteen classic or modern songs must be memorized. The student should take the course in voice normal and is required to appear in public recitals.

Senior Year.—The study of program building, suitable repertoire from the best song literature, stage technic, elements of dramatic art as applied to any suitable opera role. It is required that thirty classic or modern songs be memorized by this year, preferably in the language in which they are written. A senior recital is required.

Organ

Students, before taking up the study of the organ, should be able to play the piano reasonably well, at least music of an intermediate grade, such as the Czerny Velocity studies, Bach's Inventions, and the sonatas of Mozart and Haydn.

Freshman Year.—An instruction book is used, such as "The Technique and Art of Organ Playing" by Clarence Dickinson, "The Organ" by Stainer, or Clemens' "Modern School for the Organ." Great stress is made of the idea of laying a solid foundation for the future development of a finished organ technic.

Sophomore Year.—Such material as "Master Studies for the Organ" by Carl, Nilson's "Pedal Playing" are drawn upon. The easier works of Bach, from the Widor-Schweitzer edition, are thoroughly studied.

Third Year.—Continuation of the study of Bach's works, sonatas of Mendelssohn, Guilmant, and other examples of organ literature.
Fourth Year.—Further continuation of the study of Bach, more particularly the larger and more difficult works. The symphonies, sonatas, choral preludes, suites, concert overtures of such composers as Rheinberger, Merkel, Franck, Widor, Vierne, Karg-Elert, Hollins, etc., and the best compositions of many other writers for the organ, both ancient and modern, are used throughout the course.

The requirements of church service playing are continually kept in mind, and students are drilled in hymn playing and accompaniments of sacred solos or anthems.

Students may also get an insight into the requirements of playing for a moving picture.

Violin

Preparatory Grade.—Special attention in forming the positions of the violin and bow. Easy studies in the first position to suit capabilities of each pupil.

Credits are allowed on the same basis as for piano.

Recitals

A number of recitals are given at the Conservatory each year by advanced students and members of the faculty. All students of piano and voice are required to attend.

Concerts

Students of Macalester Conservatory have many opportunities to attend musical events in the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis. The Chicago Opera Company visits St. Paul in the spring, the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra gives sixteen concerts, membership in the Schubert Club of St. Paul and the Thursday Musicale of Minneapolis is open to students, and there are constant opportunities to attend recitals by the foremost artists of the country.

Sorority

A chapter of the Sigma Alpha Iota sorority was installed at the Conservatory in 1923. All women students whose scholarship and musical attainments reach a satisfactory mark may join. It gives opportunity for social and musical events and for meeting members of other chapters. This sorority claims a wide membership, representing the highest accomplishments in music.

Preparatory Department

Macalester Conservatory has a large and flourishing Junior and Intermediate Department. Students are taken at any age or stage of advancement and may enter at any time. Our teachers have been required to take courses in Normal Training and to have made especial preparation for the instruction of children. Students who enter the Preparatory Department may look forward to completing the preparatory course in four years when upon examination they may be admitted to the college course.

Children's Classes

Classes of children in music essentials.
All classes, Saturday, 9:00 to 12:00.

Terms

College students pay their bills for music courses at the college office at the beginning of each semester. All subjects taught at the Conservatory are included in the college tuition except the Public School Music courses and private lesson courses in Applied Music.

Students who take music only without entering the college may enroll at any time of the year and pay their tuition at the Conservatory.
The following terms for lessons are based on a semester of eighteen weeks.
