

Spring 5-31-1997

About the Authors

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.macalester.edu/macintl>

---

Recommended Citation

(1997) "About the Authors," Macalester International: Vol. 4, Article 5.

Available at: <http://digitalcommons.macalester.edu/macintl/vol4/iss1/5>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Institute for Global Citizenship at DigitalCommons@Macalester College. It has been accepted for inclusion in Macalester International by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@Macalester College. For more information, please contact scholarpub@macalester.edu.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Dr. Benedict R. Anderson is the Aaron L. Binenkorb Professor of International Studies at Cornell University and serves as Director of the Modern Indonesia Project and Editor of Indonesia. A renowned thinker on nationalism as well as a scholar of the politics of Indonesia and Thailand, Dr. Anderson has written, translated, and edited nearly 200 works, including Java in a Time of Revolution (1972); Imagined Communities: Reflections on the Origin and Spread of Nationalism (1983); In the Mirror: Literature and Politics in Siam in the American Era (1985); and Language and Power: Exploring Political Cultures in Indonesia (1990).

Dr. Seyla Benhabib is a Professor of Government at Harvard University and a Senior Research Fellow at Harvard's Center for European Studies. Recently she was a Visiting Senior Fellow at the Institute for Human Sciences in Vienna, Austria. A native of Istanbul, Turkey, she has served on the editorial boards of various academic journals. Among her many publications are Critique, Norm and Utopia: A Study of the Foundations of Critical Theory (1986), Situating the Self: Gender, Community and Postmodernism in Contemporary Ethics (1993), and Feminist Contentions: A Philosophical Exchange (1996).

Dr. Emmanuel Sivan is a Professor of History at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, Israel. A three-time Distinguished Visiting Professor at Rutgers University and former Publisher and Editor of The Jerusalem Quarterly, Dr. Sivan has written and edited eight books and over thirty articles. His works include L'Islam et la Croisade (1968); Interpretations of Islam (1985); Jewish & Islamic Political Extremism (1990); and The 1948 Generation: Myth, Demography, Memory (1991).

Alberto Moya Monge is a senior at Macalester College majoring in Communication Studies and International Studies. A native of San José, Costa Rica, he has taught English as a second language to Latino immigrants and has worked with local television stations gathering information and breaking news via satellite video transmissions. He plans to pursue a career in the telecommunications/news industry, focusing on U.S. and Latin American politics and affairs.

Eileen Whelan, a 1996 World Institute Press fellow, serves as a Senior Journalist with Irish National Broadcasting in Dublin, Ireland. She reports foreign and domestic news on national radio and television.

Dr. Michael Shapiro is a Visiting Professor of Political Science at Macalester College from the University of Hawaii. He has published twelve books and nearly four dozen articles, including "The October War: Changes in Cognitive Orientation Toward the Middle East Conflict" (1979), Reading the Postmodern Polity: Political Theory as Textual Practice (1992), Challenging Boundaries: Global Flows, Territorial Identities (1996), and Violent Cartographies (1997).

Dr. Jean Comaroff is the Bernard E. and Ellen C. Sunny Distinguished Service Professor of Anthropology at the University of Chicago. She is the author of several books and more than two dozen scholarly articles. Her major publications include Body of Power, Spirit of Resistance: The Culture and History of a South African People (1985); Of Revelation and Revolution: Christianity and Colonialism in South Africa (1991); and Ethnography and the Historical Imagination (1992). In addition, Dr. Comaroff is a member of the editorial boards of several leading academic journals.

Minh Ta, a senior at Macalester College, was born in Saigon, Vietnam, and grew up in Philadelphia. A former vice president of the Macalester College Student Government and active community member, he is completing majors in Political Science and History. His academic interests include issues of race construction and public policy.

Mulugeta Aregawi writes commentaries and news analyses for The Ethiopian Herald and Radio Ethiopia in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. His work focuses primarily on law and the ongoing democratization process in Ethiopia. He was a 1996 fellow of the World Press Institute.

Professor Ola Rotimi, Hubert H. Humphrey Distinguished Visiting Professor of Dramatic Arts at Macalester College, is one of Africa's leading playwrights and best-known directors. A two-time Fulbright Fellow, he has created six full-length plays—two of them award-winning—and published a number of scholarly articles on theater and drama. His plays include The Gods are Not to Blame (1971), Hopes of the Living Dead (1985), and When Criminals Turn Judges (1990).

Dr. Samira Kawash is an Assistant Professor of English at Rutgers University. A graduate of Stanford and Duke Universities, she is the recipient of the 1996 Camargo Foundation Fellowship. Dr. Kawash is the author of books and articles that include "Ethnicity and Reading" (1994); Dislocating the Color Line: Identity, Hybridity, and Singularity in African-American Narrative (1996); "The Autobiography of an Ex-Coloured Man: (Passing for) Black Passing for White" (1996); and "Fugitive Properties" (forthcoming).

Thea Gelbspan, a senior at Macalester College majoring in International Studies and Latin American Studies, grew up in Brookline, Massachusetts. She has spent a semester at the University of Chile in Santiago in addition to studying human rights and international development in Guatemala. Also, she has volunteered as a public health and community development worker in Brazil and Ecuador.

Vlad Georgescu, a 1996 World Press Institute fellow, is the Chief News Editor of Radio Delta, the second most listened to radio station in Bucharest, Romania.

Dr. Ellis Dye, DeWitt Wallace Professor of German at Macalester College, specializes in the instruction of German language and post-medieval German literature. In addition to his long-standing community service, he is the co-founder of the Macalester College Study Abroad Program in Germany. He is the author of "'Selige Sehnsucht' and Goethean Enlightenment" (1989), "Women, Water, and the Male's Delinquency, in Goethe" (1993), and "Love and Knowledge in Goethe" (1996).

Dr. Ashis Nandy is the Senior Fellow and Director of the Centre for the Study of Developing Societies in Delhi, India. Trained in psychology and the sociology of science, he is an active participant in movements for peace, alternative sciences and technologies, and cultural survival. Dr. Nandy has written a number of engaging works, including At the Edge of Psychology: Essays in Politics and Culture (1980); Traditions, Tyranny, and Utopias: Essays in the Politics of Awareness (1987); Science, Hegemony, and Violence: A Requiem for Modernity (1990); and, most recently, The Savage Freud and Other Essays on Possible and Retrievable Selves (1995).

Jeya Paul, a native of India, is a junior at Macalester College majoring in International Studies and Economics with a minor in Political Science. Following her graduation, she plans to pursue a graduate degree in International Studies.

Rubén Guillemí reports international news for Claim, the largest circulation daily in Argentina. A 1996 fellow of the World Press Institute, he has covered the war in the former Yugoslavia, drug trafficking in Bolivia, terrorism in Peru, and state elections in Germany.

Dr. Arjun Guneratne is an Assistant Professor of Anthropology at Macalester College. His research interests include ethnicity, nationalism, peasant societies, and social and cultural change, particularly in Sri Lanka and Nepal. Among his publications are "The Modernizing Matwalis: Caste, Class, and Status among the Tharus of Chitwan" (forthcoming) and "The Tax-Max Cometh: The Impact of Revenue Collection on Subsistence Strategies in Chitwan Tharu Society" (forthcoming).