RECENT RESEARCH

ROLES AND MEANING IN CLASSICAL DANCE DRAMA OF NEPAL

Researcher: Linda L. Iltis
Affiliate Assistant Professor
South Asian Studies
311 Thomson Hall, DR-05
University of Washington
Seattle, WA 98195

Sponsored by: National Endowment for the Humanities (6/87-6/88)

This research will focus on the classical Newar dance drama of Harisiddhi, the Jala Pyakha. The project will include a study of the ritual performing tradition and also translation and comparative analysis of corresponding ritual dance manuals. Video and audio documentation will be used to discuss the character roles, choreography, and identities of both the performers and the audience.

Since the Jala Pyakha is reputedly one of the oldest drama traditions, historical dimensions of the drama and the corresponding community of ritual specialists will also be explored.
