

CONTRIBUTORS

Abdi Ismail Samatar is a professor in the Department of Geography and Environment at the University of Minnesota. He is also an Extraordinary Professor in the African Center for the Study of the United States at the University of Pretoria, South Africa. His most recent publications include two books: Africa's First Democrats (2016), and Framing Somalia: Beyond the Merchants of Misery (2022). Professor Samatar is a Senator in the Upper House of Somalia's parliament.

Ahmed I. Samatar (Editor-in-Chief of Bildhaan) is Chair and the James Wallace Professor of International Studies and Founding Dean of the Kofi Annan Institute for Global Citizenship at Macalester College. His latest project, "The Making of Dahabshiil" appeared in Bildhaan (2021).

Jorge de Torres is an Africanist archaeologist and a staff scientist at the Institute of Heritage Sciences of the Spanish National Research Council. He is the director of the StateHorn project, a multidisciplinary project which studies the medieval Muslim States of the Horn of Africa.

Ahmed M. Musa is a Postdoctoral Researcher at the research project "Diaspora Humanitarianism in Complex Crises" and the research project "Holding Aid Accountable: Relational Humanitarianism in Protracted Crisis" implemented by PRIO.

Nauja Kleist is a senior researcher at the Danish Institute for International Studies. She is currently the Principle Investigator of the research project Diaspora Humanitarianism in Complex Crises, focusing on Somali East Africa.

Abdifatah Ismael Tahir is a research associate at the Global Development Institute of the University of Manchester in the UK. His current research interests focus on urban politics and governance. Tahir has a doctorate in Geography from the University of Sussex.