

Stony Brook University professor and artist George Hart to unveil sculpture at Macalester in October

St. Paul, Minn. – Stony Brook University professor, artist, and Momath co-founder George Hart (<http://georgehart.com/>) will be unveiling and installing one of his sculptures designed especially for Macalester next month. Macalester Mathematics, Statistics, and Computer Science and Art students will cut and then assemble (<http://georgehart.com/Aalto/aalto.html>) the five-foot diameter sculpture with Hart on October 13 from 1-4 p.m. in Olin Rice, Smail Gallery where it will hang.

Hart will give a talk in John B. Davis Lecture Hall, in the Ruth Stricker Dayton Campus Center, at 4:40 p.m. The talk is free and open to the public.

Hart will be at Macalester as part of the college's Mathematics and Society Speaker Series, established in 2001 and made possible through the generous financial support of a Macalester alumnus. The purpose of the series, sponsored by the Mathematics, Statistics and Computer Science Department, is to enhance classroom learning in mathematics or computer science through lectures by people prominent in these fields.

Hart is a research professor at the State University of New York at Stony Brook in Materials Science and Engineering. He is the co-founder of North America's only Museum of Mathematics, Momath (<http://momath.org/>), in New York City.
