Library Liaison

What does a liaison do?

Liaisons are librarians who work with students who need assistance finding library resources.

While straightforward questions can be handled at the Reference Desk, the liaison can act as a guide for advanced research needs.

Students can make appointments with their liaison to explore in-depth research projects.

Who's Your Liaison?

Find the liaison for your major.

Who's Your Liaison?

We are here to help you...even if your are not sure what to ask. We will ask you questions to guide the process. Give it a try!

What else is going on here
Plagiarism

Scan the QR code by the main library stairway. Read the info, then answer...do you need to cite your source if you paraphrase (use your own words)?

Oops! the answer was YES! If the info came from a source, you must cite it! Keep on playing!
Read a Call Number

Scan the QR code found by room 201 in the library. Carefully read the info. Then come back and take a "selfie" with your book to complete this photo challenge.
Stay Connected

Find us on Facebook, and/or read our Library News blog (both accessible from the library website). Then tell us one bit of info you gained from these sites.
Boot Camp Feedback

Scan the QR code by Room 116 and complete a survey. Then return here to tell us how you feel now that you are done! #feeling ________
How do you feel about using the library and its resources?
How likely were you to ask a librarian for research help?

How useful was Library Boot Camp?
Recommend to a Friend?
No. It wasn't really easy and it didn't learn very much.

Not really cuz it made me confused. No because it didn't help me.
Yes, it was fun to find the codes and complete the challenges.

Yes, gives you a quick easy way to learn how to use the library.

Yes, got me to actually go and see what is here.

Yes, it's useful to find out what the library can provide students.

Yes, because it is very helpful, especially for freshmen.
