ANHS Report

Dear ANHS Members and Friends,

What a wonderful experience HSC3 (Third Himalayan Studies Conference) at Yale University was for all involved! There were many highlights of the March 2014 conference, and noteworthy were the special panels in honor of Professors Paul Karan and Barbara Brower. Our many thanks go out to Dr. Mark Turin, the conference organizing committee, and Yale University for being the perfect hosts.

I want to welcome all the new members of the ANHS who joined during the conference, and we look forward to hearing from you about your research and creative activities in the Himalayan region. As we plan HSC4 at the University of Texas–Austin, tentatively scheduled for 2015, we welcome your input and participation. Please look for future HSC4 announcements.

The ANHS is pleased to announce the winner of this year’s ANHS Senior Fellowship winner, Dr. Pasang Sherpa. Her project, “Climate Change and Sherpas: A Collaborative Problem Solving Project in Nepal,” was selected from among several excellent submissions. I want to thank ANHS Executive Council member Professor Paul Karan and the committee of independent scholars who served on the fellowship committee this year.

I am also pleased to inform you of the new office location for ANHS–Kathmandu:

54 Kantishree Marga, Baluwatar
Kathmandu–4
GPO Box No. 24600
Phone: 01-4425797

Along with all the facilities to assist ANHS members, the office also has a scholar’s room for rent on a first come basis. If your travels take you to Kathmandu and you need a place to stay, please contact the ANHS–Kathmandu center director Manohari Upadhyaya at manohariup@gmail.com. And please consider dropping by the new office and sharing your research news with Manohari.

Finally, the ANHS website is currently being updated and moved to a new platform. Look for an announcement shortly when it is launched. You’ll be invited to contribute research and teaching materials, and we think you’ll like the new look.

I trust that you have had a relaxing and creative summer.
